Kennedy Promises Stiffer Federal Control on Drugs

Bulletin
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Television actress Sherri Finkbine, who has said she will seek an abortion outside this country to avoid any possibility of giving birth to a deformed child, booked passage today to Sweden, an airline report.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy promises stiffer government controls to avert drug tragedies and urges every woman in the country to guard against taking thalidomide.

He asks all women to look through their medicine cabinets and turn in any thalidomide they find to health authorities. The drug is blamed for thousands of malformed births in Europe.

Kennedy issued the warning, along with an appeal for Congress to establish new safeguards against potentially harmful drugs, at his news conference Wednesday.

From the same platform, Kennedy castigated city officials in Albany, Ga., for not sitting down with Negroes and trying to rescue their constitutional rights. The

DiSalle Defends Aid for Needy

Old Age Pensioner Average Age Said 80

PAULDING, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle today challenged critics of administration spending for the aged, for retarded children, for the mentally ill, sick and needy.

"How can you tell a person 80 years old and over to go out and get a job if he wants to eat?" the Democrat incumbent asked a breakfast meeting here on a reelection campaign swing through five counties.

DiSalle said the average age of old age pensioners is 80. Ohio has 70 pensioners over age 100, he added.

"How far can the average individual go with $64 a month?" the governor asked. Remember this money pay for food, shelter, clothing, utilities—everything. This is a statewide average."

DiSalle scheduled appearances during the day in Van Wert, Mercer, Auglaize and Shelby counties.

After a dinner meeting in Sidney, he planned to fly directly to Washington for a Friday conference with President Kennedy and other officials to urge additional mileage for Cincinnati's Circle Freeway, an interstate highway project.

In other politics, William L. Coleman, state Democratic chairman, took exception today to a recent poll conducted by the Ohio Information Committee. The poll showed incumbent Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle received only nominal support in his bid for re-election.

"It should be noted," Coleman said in a prepared statement, "that this same organization which presently finds a lopsided support for candidate Rhodes (State Auditor James A. Rhodes, Republican candidate for governor) also found similarly high support for the unsuccessful right-to-work law of 1958."

School Chief Is Reinstated; Public Cheers

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP) — The school board of nearby Goshen had no comment on the matter, but the supporters of Robert E. Gower cheered a court decision ordering him reinstated as Goshen school superintendent.

Hundreds of residents joined a parade of about 75 placard-carrying autos streaming through the school district Wednesday night.

They returned to the school grounds for a rally around a huge bonfire. Gower, along with his wife and four children were carried along in the parade in an open convertible.

Basis for the jubilation was the ruling of Judge Louis Schneider that the school board was too demanding in requiring Gower to adhere perfectly to all the board rules.

The board voted 3-2 last spring to end Gower's three-year contract as superintendent, contending he willfully disregarded board rules.

The judge declared that "it should be recognized that Mr. Gower is entitled to some reasonable leeway for the exercise of discretion and judgment whether sound or unsound."

Motorist Freed By Classic Alibi

FREMONT, Ohio (AP) — John J. Schwable came up with a classic alibi when he was charged with having no license plates on an automobile parked on a city street. It won him a dismissal from Mayor Richard D. Maier.

Schwable said the car had no engine and no transmission and therefore could not be classed as a motor vehicle. Maier scratched his head in puzzlement, but found that the city ordinance and state law on license plates pertain to motor vehicles. Since the car had no motor, the mayor dismissed the charge.

Youth Killed By Rifle Shot At Commercial

Steven Miller, 13, the son of Wilbur Miller, Orient and Clara Miller, Columbus, was shot and killed yesterday near Commercial Point.

The shooting has been tentatively ruled as an accidental death, pending further investigation, according to Dr. Ray Carroll, Pickaway County coroner.

Pickaway County Sheriff Walton Spangler and Deputy William Pontious answered the call from Commercial Point Marshal Karl Lewis reporting the mishap.

According to the story given to Sheriff Spangler by Robert Weber, 14, young Miller's companion at the time of the shooting, the two youths had been shooting birds along a creek.

THEY WERE returning when they came to an apple tree. Miller climbed the tree to get some apples.

Weber, holding the gun cradled in his left arm, started to back away from the tree when it accidentally discharged. The 22 caliber rifle bullet entered Miller's head just below the lower lip, Spangler said.

Weber was in a state of shock when the sheriff's department made the investigation yesterday. He was called in for further questioning this morning by the sheriff.

The body was taken to the Norris Funeral Home in Grove City.

Spectator Interest Soars As County Fair Nears Peak

The Pickaway County Fair, with spectator interest soaring to new heights, rolled into its fourth day today blessed with pleasant weather and plenty of activity on the schedule.

One of the largest crowds ever was on hand yesterday and last night to earmark a successful third day of festivities. Interest, enthusiasm and participation was at a peak and the same atmosphere is expected to hold true today, Friday and Saturday.

A chunk of the success formula must be attributed to a cooperative weatherman who has gone all out to boost the annual exposition. Agricultural Society planning and area cooperation also must come in for a share of the roses.

As was the case Monday and Tuesday, judging of many exhibits and events was an important item of the Fair Calendar. Adding spice were such things as conclusion of the Tractor Pull, a dandy afternoon of harness racing, an interesting Agriculture and 4-H Home Economics Demonstration contest and a tense All-Girl Thrill show. Presentation of boy and girl bicycles was another highlight.

TODAY'S schedule of events will include more judging, a 4-H Club Horse and Pony Show, an Old-Fashioned Style Show, a second phase of the All-Girl Thrill Show and a 4-H Grand Revue.

Taking in all the sights and making the most of their reign are Fair King Gene Long and his Queen, Linda Trimmer. They were named Tuesday night to succeed David McDonald and Carol Torchick, last year's royal pair.

The Fair will roll on toward its finale on Friday with still plentiful activity. Junior Fair Dairy judging is on the early morning docket, along with a Cherokee Ranch Rodeo in the evening.

A special Friday highlight will be the Junior Fair livestock

British Rocket Pads To Be Given to U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. missiles will take over Communist targets now assigned to 60 British-manned Thor rockets after they are taken off their pads.

American authorities disclosed this today following a British announcement that the above-ground, vulnerable Thor missile bases in Britain will be closed down during the coming year.

U.S. informants said the basis of the British action was financial. They suggested the money Britain saves in this way may be used to strengthen her conventional forces—including those assigned to NATO—and said this meets with U.S. approval.

Officials expect the 1,500-mile range Thors to go out of operation by October 1963.

By that time, the United States will have nearly doubled its fleet of Polaris-missile-firing submarines from the present nine to 17. The Navy considers them virtually invulnerable to attack.

President Kennedy told his news conference late Wednesday the British gave the United States advance notice of their intention to end the Thor agreement. He said it should have no adverse effect on the defense of Europe.

Under this pact, the United States supplied about $190 million worth of missiles and other equipment while the British chipped in with about $33.6 million for launch sites and related expenses.

THE PICKAWAY County Fair speed committee, deserves an extra vote of confidence for providing Pickaway County fairgoers with two excellent afternoons of outstanding races.

Many onlookers termed it one of the most successful speed programs of any fair. All the races were close—many going to the wire before a winner was decided—and all were well filled.

Ralph May is chairman of the committee, John Fissell the race secretary and Sterling Poling, and Wayne Martin the other members.

Buggy-Car Mishap Leaves 5 Injured

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP) — Five persons were hospitalized and electric power was interrupted in two communities after a car sideswiped an Amish buggy late Wednesday.

Reported in fair condition at Dunlap Memorial hospital in Orrville were Simon Byler, 17, of Apple Creek and his brothers, John, 16, and Edward, 15; Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, 65, and Mrs. Suzzie Yoder, 38, both of Beach City.

The Ohio Highway Patrol said a car driven by Byler sideswiped a buggy driven by Mrs. Miller's husband, David, 65. The car then spun out of control, sideswiped several trees and snapped a main utility pole in half, disrupting electric service to Mount Eaton and Wilmot for several hours.

New Yorker Gets 2 Years

Attempt To Fix Case Results in Conviction

NEW YORK (AP) — A federal judge sentenced State Supreme Court Justice J. Vincent Keogh today to two years in prison on a charge of obstructing justice by trying to fix a federal court bankruptcy case.

His two co-defendants, Elliott Kahaner, 36, a former U.S. assistant attorney in Brooklyn, and Antonio (Tony Ducks) Corallo, 47, an underworld figure, also were sentenced to two years.

U.S. District Court Judge Edward Weinfeld ordered the sentences after the 56-year-old Keogh swore his innocence "in the presence of the ever-living God."

Weinfeld earlier had rejected defense motions to dismiss the case against the three defendants.

The defendants were continued in their present status pending appeals — Keogh and Kahaner released in their own recognizance and Corallo in $25,000 bail.

They were convicted June 16. The prosecution said Keogh accepted a $22,500 bribe and Kahaner one of $12,500 for their efforts in an unsuccessful attempt to fix the bankruptcy case.

Corallo's role was portrayed as one of raising the money on behalf of the bankruptcy defendants.

Keogh was convicted of having attempted to get U.S. District Judge Leo F. Rayfield to "go easy."

Keogh is a brother of Rep. Eugene J. Keogh, D-N.Y., who testified as a defense witness in the fix trial. He was not involved in the case.

Dayton Aide Feared Foul Play Victim

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Police said today they feared that City Commissioner David Pottinger, 25, missing since he left a commission meeting Wednesday night, had met with foul play.

The commissioner's red station wagon was found on an east side street this morning and there were "signs of violence," police said.

Shortly after the car was found, uniformed police and detectives swarmed about the scene attempting to find clues to the disappearance.

"We are now working on the assumption violence was committed," Detective Sgt. James Pickart said.

Pottinger, who operates an insurance agency, left home to attend a meeting Wednesday night with about $2,100 in his possession, police said. He did not return home after the meeting, and his wife notified the police.

Pottinger's brother, Stanley, said the commissioner had the cash to close a real estate deal but wasn't sure he had it when he disappeared.

Kennedy Promises Stiffer Federal Control on Drugs

Bulletin

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Television actress Sherri Finkbine, who has said she will seek an abortion outside this country to avoid any possibility of giving birth to a deformed child, booked passage today to Sweden, an airline report.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy promises stiffer government controls to avert drug tragedies and urges every woman in the country to guard against taking thalidomide.

He asks all women to look through their medicine cabinets and turn in any thalidomide they find to health authorities. The drug is blamed for thousands of malformed births in Europe.

Kennedy issued the warning, along with an appeal for Congress to establish new safeguards against potentially harmful drugs, at his news conference Wednesday.

From the same platform, Kennedy castigated city officials in Albany, Ga., for not sitting down with Negroes and trying to rescue their constitutional rights. The President was asked about racial strife in the Georgia community, where protests have led to a multitude of arrests and rising tension.

"The United States government is involved in sitting down at Geneva with the Soviet Union," he said. "I can't understand why the government of Albany, City Council of Albany, cannot do the same for American citizens."

As for the talks at Geneva, Kennedy said U.S. negotiator Arthur H. Dean will present new information gathered by the United States on a simpler, more economical and more effective system for detecting underground nuclear explosions and enforcing a test ban treaty.

Kennedy praised the Food and Drug Administration, especially Dr. Frances Kelsey, for alertness in preventing commercial distribution of the drug in this country. But he said "we ought to be tougher" in regulating distribution of drugs to doctors for experimental use and suggested this could be done without further legislation.

Stronger legislation than a bill approved by the Senate Judiciary committee, however, is essential for the government to yank new drugs off the market "where there is an immediate hazard to public health," Kennedy said.

On other subjects, the President had this to say:

Peru—Steps taken by the military junta that took over the Peruvian government have been encouraging but the United States hopes for additional evidence of a return to free, constitutional government. He implied additional assurances would bring about U.S. recognition of the new regime.

Economy—He is "not satisfied" with the performance of the U.S. economy during his administration—growth is insufficient—but he is ready to compare his record with that of the Eisenhower administration.

Tests—The United States will set off no more atmospheric tests in Nevada, he said, and a decision on conducting three additional tests at Johnston Island in the Pacific will be made after the launching pad there is repaired.

Communications Satellite—Kennedy said he still backs the administration bill to establish a private corporation to operate the U.S. portion of a global communications satellite system. Senate consideration of the measure had been delayed by a filibuster.

After a dinner meeting in Sidney, he planned to fly directly to Washington for a Friday conference with President Kennedy and other officials to urge additional mileage for Cincinnati's Circle Freeway, an interstate highway project.

In other politics, William L. Coleman, state Democratic chairman, took exception today to a recent poll conducted by the Ohio Information Committee. The poll showed incumbent Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle received only nominal support in his bid for re-election.

Kennedy's Back Rated
Foul Weather Indicator

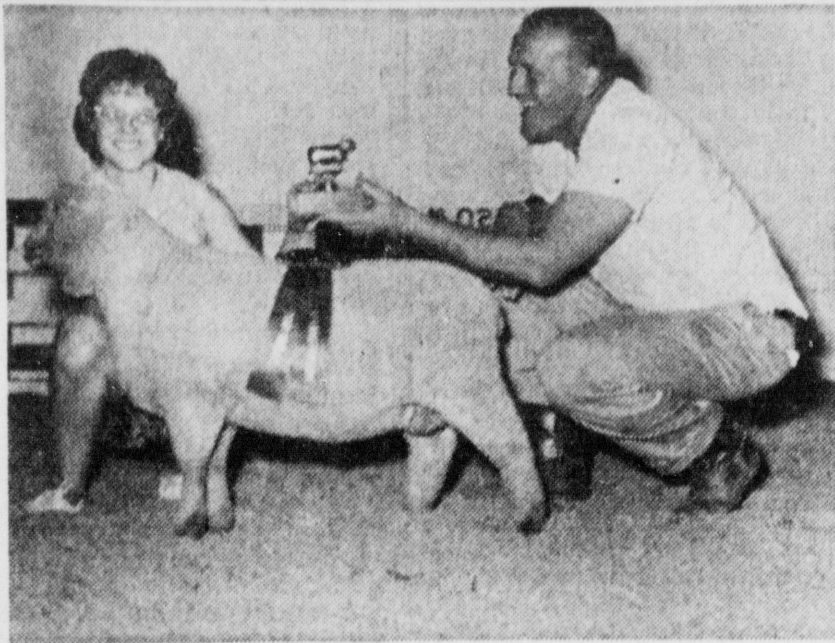

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has a built-in foul-weather barometer—his back.

The subject came up Wednesday, amidst laughter, at his news conference.

A reporter, noting that it had been some time since there had been a report on the President's health, asked:

"How is your aching back?"

Said Kennedy with a broad grin: "Well, it depends on the weather, political and otherwise. It's very good today."

TUESDAY evening at the King and Queen contest, fairgoers saw a lovely girl, Miss Mary Claire Short, Wednesday they discovered that she was also a beautiful horsewoman. Miss Short was the outrider for the harness races. Several times her horse, Lady Luck, shied dangerously, but Miss Short maintained her seat and complete control of her horse.

WHILE Winfield Koch, superintendent of the Pickaway County Children's Home was treating the youngsters to an outing at the fair, his bus "ran off."

The bus, parked behind Joe Moats Garage on the Lancaster Pike, rolled down a hill, through a fence and across Pontious lane where it hit a car belonging to Russell Stewart. Stewart's car, was parked in his drive. Minor damage was done to the car.

ACCORDING to Mrs. Carl Steck, Scioto Twp. it's perfectly possible to have both boys and flowers. (She has been told you can't do it) To prove her point, Mrs. Steck said that all three boys, Curtis, Carl and Craig, had entered exhibits in the junior flower show Wednesday.

MRS. PAUL COUNTS, junior flower show official, said the youngsters were very eager to make early entries. Several of them had 4-H projects and had to get over to see their animals judged. The kids were there before the officials.

BUSY FAIR Manager Bill Cook wasn't too busy to bring an enormous pot of night blooming cereus over to the flower show Wednesday evening. The plant had two gorgeous blossoms that had burst into bloom. It is a real experience to see some of these exotic blossoms. They have a rare perfume, too.

NOTHING like having kinfolks, Jerry Razor's good looking cousin blew up balloons for him while he dined over at the new Grange Hall. The kids were lined up in a long queue to receive the balloons that this young Democratic candidate for congressman was giving away.

Attempt To Fix Case Results in Conviction

NEW YORK (AP) — A federal judge sentenced State Supreme Court Justice J. Vincent Keogh today to two years in prison on a charge of obstructing justice by trying to fix a federal court bankruptcy case.

His two co-defendants, Elliott Kahaner, 36, a former U.S. assistant attorney in Brooklyn, and Antonio (Tony Ducks) Corallo, 47, an underworld figure, also were sentenced to two years.

U.S. District Court Judge Edward Weinfeld ordered the sentences after the 56-year-old Keogh swore his innocence "in the presence of the ever-living God."

Weinfeld earlier had rejected defense motions to dismiss the case against the three defendants.

The defendants were continued in their present status pending appeals — Keogh and Kahaner released in their own recognizance and Corallo in $25,000 bail.

They were convicted June 16. The prosecution said Keogh accepted a $22,500 bribe and Kahaner one of $12,500 for their efforts in an unsuccessful attempt to fix the bankruptcy case.

Corallo's role was portrayed as one of raising the money on behalf of the bankruptcy defendants.

Keogh was convicted of having attempted to get U.S. District Judge Leo F. Rayfield to "go easy."

Keogh is a brother of Rep. Eugene J. Keogh, D-N.Y., who testified as a defense witness in the fix trial. He was not involved in the case.

Dayton Aide
Feared Foul
Play Victim

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Police said today they feared that City Commissioner David Pottinger, 25, missing since he left a commission meeting Wednesday night, had met with foul play.

The commissioner's red station wagon was found on an east side street this morning and there were "signs of violence," police said.

Shortly after the car was found, uniformed police and detectives swarmed about the scene attempting to find clues to the disappearance.

"We are now working on the assumption violence was committed," Detective Sgt. James Pickart said.

Pottinger, who operates an insurance agency, left home to attend the meeting Wednesday night with about $2,100 in his possession, police said. He did not return home after the meeting, and his wife notified the police.

Pottinger's brother, Stanley, said the commissioner had the cash to close a real estate deal but wasn't sure he had it when he disappeared.

said that he was leaning a mite towards the corn tassel as our national floral emblem. Not that he's committed himself, but he's leaning.

MRS. WARREN BAKER was having an interesting time of it interviewing fairgoers for the local radio station. We promised Susie Pontious we would tell about the Jackson Trio of which she is a member. And we promised Wanda Woods to mention she was having good fun at the Fair. She's a 4-H member. But when Mary Baker interviewed, you sort of talk about the things she asks about. It's very exciting to be on radio. You get radio fright even if it is just a friendly chat with Mary.

WE STOPPED in at the Laurelville Grain and Mill booth near the coliseum. There's a fascinating display there that looks like paint is being poured from one can into another. But the cans never overflow. Don and Clarence Maxson will explain the device.

VANGIE CAMPBELL wanted to know why the can didn't run over. She stuck her finger into the paint and got a surprise.

LORNA POLING stopped at the booth. She was carrying her brownies which had received a grade of A as a 4-H project. Lorna let us sample them. No wonder she made an "A".

INCIDENTALLY Lorna wandered over to the paint and stuck her finger into it to see if it was actually paint.

DANNY THOMPSON, S. Scioto St., had to administer first aid to his gopher before the pet parade. The beautifully marked little creature broke its leg. Danny applied a bandage but the gopher was definitely against bandages. The animal had a pink ribbon around its neck and was smuggling a saw of them.

BILL DUVAL's gladiolous specimen missed out on the blue ribbon last year because he failed to display any foliage with the glad spike. This year Tom Duval said his Dad's gladiolus was going to win a blue ribbon if they had to take a blue ribbon and all. Sure 'nuff. Bill Duval won first. (No they did not display the bulb along with the flower.)

THERE WAS some controversy Tuesday about whether or not a certain rose belonged in the floribunda class. Mrs. H. O. Caldwell settled the argument by sniffing at the rose. "Definitely a Crimson Glory" was her ultimatum.

MARTHA POLING said if anybody was tossing bouquets around, one ought to be tossed in the direction of Emma Lou Tackett who has done a masterful job with the 4-H.

MRS. HERMAN Porter said the grange dinner went off nicely and many were the compliments fairgoers gave the cooks on the fried chicken menu. They started at 7 a. m. to fry the chicken. Mrs. Porter made five gallons of gravy. Incidentally, Mrs. Porter's specialty is gravy making.

IF YOU did not get to see a spinning demonstration at the Historical Society booth, it was not Elizabeth Blaney's fault. She was leaving home with her flax all set for the Fair when she fell and injured her leg. So instead of spinning at the fair she was staying home waiting for the doctor. She probably is Circleville's one and only spinner.

THE Historical Society wanted a showcase for its display in the room where the baked goods are being exhibited. The committee members waited and waited for that extra showcase. At last they gently edged one of the baked goods show cases over to their side. With fear and trembling they set up their exhibit. Last report was that the baked goods people just winked at the theft and everybody's happy.

A capacity crowd filled the Pickaway County Fairgrounds grandstand to watch the girl auto daredevils perform their feats of daring on the track.

For 90 minutes, the girls kept spectators on the edge of their seats as they raced their cars over ramps, crossed back and forth in front of the grandstand, drove through flames and wall, upset cars and made a daring 54-foot jump from one ramp to another.

One of the more popular parts of the act was the two clowns, Dr. Pee Wee and Delaware. They kept spectators in stitches with their hilarious antics between the girls' performances.

Viewers overflowed the Grandstand and were lined along the fences at the track.

BESIDES their expert driving, the girls performed acrobatics on the cars while being driven in front of the Grandstand.

In the slide for life, one of the young ladies stepped on the rear bumper of a car. When it had attained a high rate of speed, she dropped from the auto to slide approximately 87 feet through a ring of fire.

Another stunt featured one of the girls as a human battering ram. With no other protection than a crash helmet, she rode on the hood of a speeding car through a flaming wooden wall.

The Rotoff thrill show was featured on a nationwide television show this spring.

One may buy motif jewelry here already made. But a craftsman who likes to do handicrafts would love making the jewelry himself.

The glue is used on jet planes and is replacing welding. So it ought to stick.

The polished rocks are very inexpensive. There are Apache tears, petrified oil, rose quartz, tiger eyes, peacock ore fools gold and crystalized marble.

THE MARBLE is heated in ovens, then plunged into water. Sometimes the marble explodes when it hits the water. Sometimes it forms round crystals.

About the polishing process? Rough stones are put in tumblers and tumbled for 45 days. They turn out to be beautiful polished.

"The guys", I was told "go for the stones because they make beautiful gifts for the girls. And the girls go for them because they make such pretty jewelry."

And to see the crowd around the booth you might say everybody's going for the polished stones. You just can't help it.

DiSalle Asks Rhodes About FEPC Stand

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle expanded his questions Wednesday for his Republican reelection opponent.

Back at his desk between campaign junkets, the Democrat incumbent asked state auditor James A. Rhodes question No. 27 in a series that has failed to draw the GOP nominee into an early campaign.

"Do you favor fair employment practice legislation yourself," DiSalle asked, "or do you agree with the position of your associates?"

The governor identified the associates as Republican legislative leaders who he said in 1959 voted against a law providing for fair employment practices and creation of the Ohio Civil Rights Commission.

MARTHA POLING said if anybody was tossing bouquets around, one ought to be tossed in the direction of Emma Lou Tackett who has done a masterful job with the 4-H.

MARTHA went on to explain that it was a difficult task indeed to work out somebody else's plans. Kileen Wright, of course, had made the plans when she was Home Demonstration gal.

MRS. HERMAN Porter said the grange dinner went off nicely and many were the compliments fairgoers gave the cooks on the fried chicken menu. They started at 7 a. m. to fry the chicken. Mrs. Porter made five gallons of gravy. Incidentally, Mrs. Porter's specialty is gravy making.

IF YOU did not get to see a spinning demonstration at the Historical Society booth, it was not Elizabeth Blaney's fault. She was leaving home with her flax all set for the Fair when she fell and injured her leg. So instead of spinning at the fair she was staying home waiting for the doctor. She said that he was leaning a mile towards the corn tassel as our national floral emblem. Not that he's committed himself, but he's leaning.

MRS. WARREN BAKER was having an interesting time of it interviewing fairgoers for the local radio station. We promised Susie Pontious we would tell about the Jackson Trio of which she is a member. And we promised Wanda Woods to mention she was having good fun at the Fair. She's a 4-H member. But when Mary Baker interviewed, you sort of talk about the things she asks about. It's very exciting to be on radio. You get radio fright even if it is just a friendly chat with Mary.

WE STOPPED in at the Laurelville Grain and Mill booth near the coliseum. There's a fascinating display there that looks like paint is being poured from one can into another. But the cans never overflow. Don and Clarence Maxson will explain the device.

VANGIE CAMPBELL wanted to know why the can didn't run over. She stuck her finger into the paint and got a surprise.

LORNA POLING stopped at the booth. She was carrying her brownies which had received a grade of A as a 4-H project. Lorna let us sample them. No wonder she made an "A".

INCIDENTALLY Lorna wandered over to the paint and stuck her finger into it to see if it were actually paint.

DANNY THOMPSON, S. Scioto St., had to administer first aid to his gopher before the pet parade. The beautifully marked little creature broke its leg. Danny applied a bandage but the gopher was definitely against bandages. The animal had a pink ribbon around its neck and was snuggling cozily against Danny the last we saw of them.

BILL DUVAL's gladiolus specimen missed out on the blue ribbon last year because he failed to display any foliage with the glad spike. This year Tom Duval said his Dad's gladiolus were going to win a blue ribbon if they had to take glad bulb and all. Sure 'nuff. Bill Duval won first. (No they did not display the bulb along with the flower.)

THERE WAS some controversy Tuesday about whether or not a certain rose belonged in the floribunda class. Mrs. H. O. Caldwell settled the argument by sniffing at the rose. "Definitely a Crimson Glory" was her ultimatum.

More Livestock Feeders To Cut Grain Surplus

WASHINGTON (AP)—A further increase in livestock to be fed during the 1962-63 marketing year will reduce surpluses of corn and other feed grains, the Agriculture Department predicts.

A report on the feed situation said a 2 per cent increase over this year is expected in the number of livestock to be fed during the season beginning Oct. 1. The number would be around 170,500,000, compared with 168,500,000 being fed this year.

Principal animal users of grain are cattle and hogs, although a considerable quantity is used to feed poultry.

Usage of corn, the major feed grain, during the current season is expected to total nearly 4 billion bushels, a record high. This is a larger quantity of corn used in a single year than has ever been produced in a year. This high usage is helping to cut down on surpluses.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Farm product prices increased slightly during the month ended July 15 in reflection of normal marketing patterns.

Prices of livestock and live-stock products increased while those for most crops declined. The overall increase was four-tenths of 1 per cent. Livestock and livestock products normally move to market in reduced quantities during the heat of the summer. Hence their prices tend to go up.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department reports that meat producing during the first six months was 13.9 billion pounds, up 2 per cent from a year earlier. Beef was up 1 per cent, veal was down 4 per cent, pork was up 5 per cent, and lamb and mutton were down 5 per cent.

Pistol Play Ends Hearing For Divorce

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—A Wichita man jumped to his feet in a courtroom just before his divorce case was called Tuesday and shot his wife, his mother-in-law and himself.

Judge Clement Clark had just called a witness when Burnell C. Bauguess, 29, jerked a pistol from his pocket and began shooting.

Spectators scrambled for exits or hit the floor of the room on the seventh floor of the courthouse.

Bauguess fired twice at his estranged wife, Sharon, 24, hitting her once in the head. His next shot hit Margaret D. White, 41, in the left arm.

Bauguess then put the pistol to his head and fired again.

Both Bauguess and his wife died. Mrs. White is in good condition.

Court officials said there were 25 or 30 people in the room. No one else was hit by the bullets.

New Commercial Code Agency Busy

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Secretary of State Ted W. Brown said today his new uniform commercial code department handled nearly 10,000 transactions during July, its first month of operation.

The volume led Brown to predict that 120,000 transactions would be handled in the first full year of operation. He previously had estimated about 100,000.

The secretary of state said initial expense of the department indicated that he can operate on about $40,000 less than appropriated for the full year. He added that any saving would be returned to the state's general fund.

Illinois Governor Spares Paul Crump

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Paul Crump, convicted of murder nine years ago, was spared from the electric chair Wednesday by Gov. Otto Kerner of Illinois.

Crump was to have been put to death in the Cook County (Chicago) Jail early Friday.

The governor accepted the plea of Crump and the forces that rallied to his support in a case that attracted nationwide attention that the 32-year-old Negro had rehabilitated himself during nearly a decade behind bars.

Crump, the governor said, "must be accepted as rehabilitated."

"Under the circumstances it would serve no useful purpose to society to take this man's life. The power of clemency entrusted to the governor permits giving effect to his judgment."

"This consideration, however, can never be entirely free of doubt for the real test for Paul Crump lies ahead. The years he must face in prison will serve as a true test of his willingness and ability to be of service to his fellow man."

Crump, told of the governor's action, made a brief statement to newsmen:

"I thank God, (Gov.) Kerner and all the men who had faith and worked so hard to bring this case to the attention of the governor and the public."

Crump's voice shook, and the statement was made in a weak tone. There was a glint of tears in his eyes.

Among the many persons who joined in Crump's appeal for the sparing of his life was Warden Jack Johnson of the jail who was to carry the word from Gov. Kerner to his No. 1 prisoner of many years.

Florida Bank Chief Indicted For Perjury

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal grand jury indicted a Florida bank president on perjury charges Wednesday and disclosed it is investigating the administration of a $180-million Teamsters Union fund.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said a 7-count indictment was returned against Lou Poller, 54.

He was accused of lying to the jury four times last Feb. 21, and three times March 1.

The jury disclosed in the indictment that it is investigating:

1. Whether Fred W. Strecker Jr., a trustee of the Central States Teamster pension fund, had an interest in $840,000 in loans made from the fund to the Four-Three-Six Duncan Corp. of St. Louis, Mo. The firm was described as a real estate holding company.

2. Whether an official of the fund had concealed or falsely described the loans in annual reports to the Labor Department.

studying records of the case and the transcript of Monday's clemency hearing by the Illinois Pardon and Pardon Board.

Crump, a recent convert to Roman Catholicism, spent Tuesday praying and reading in his cell, 20 feet from the execution chamber in the Cook County Jail. He has been in the jail since his conviction in 1953 for the murder of Theodore Zukowski, 44, a guard, during a $20,000 robbery of the Libby, McNeil & Libby plant in Chicago. The U.S. Supreme Court had refused three times to hear his appeal. Four companions convicted in the robbery drew prison sentences.

Crump's plea before the five-man parole board was unique in that it was not based upon innocence or degree of guilt in the crime or the handling of the case in the courts.

Instead, Crump's attorney, Donald Page Moore, argued that Crump's life should be spared because he has been rehabilitated.

Crump, the 10th in a family of 13 children, whose father deserted when he was 6, quit school when he was 15. But he has continued his education in jail and has written a book scheduled for publication in the autumn.

The state argued against clemency for Crump, maintaining that there is no absolute proof that the prisoner has been rehabilitated.

Federal Civilian Payroll Is Highest in 10 Years

WASHINGTON (AP)—The number of civilians on the federal payroll in June was the highest in 10 years, a Senate-House committee reported today.

The committee found that at year's end in June civilian federal employment was 2,496,455, an increase of 77,351 over June 1961.

This, said the committee, was the highest year-end figure since June 1952, the Korean War peak. Then it reached 2,596,800.

More Livestock Feeders To Cut Grain Surplus

WASHINGTON (AP)—A further increase in livestock to be fed during the 1962-63 marketing year will reduce surpluses of corn and other feed grains, the Agriculture Department predicts.

A report on the feed situation said a 2 per cent increase over this year is expected in the number of livestock to be fed during the season beginning Oct. 1. The number would be around 170,500,000, compared with 168,500,000 being fed this year.

Principal animal users of grain are cattle and hogs, although a considerable quantity is used to feed poultry.

Usage of corn, the major feed grain, during the current season is expected to total nearly 4 billion bushels, a record high. This is a larger quantity of corn used in a single year than has ever been produced in a year. This high usage is helping to cut down on surpluses.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farm product prices increased slightly during the month ended July 15 in reflection of normal marketing patterns.

Prices of livestock and live-stock products increased while those for most crops declined. The over-all increase was four-tenths of 1 per cent. Livestock and livestock products normally move to market in reduced quantities during the heat of the summer. Hence their prices tend to go up.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department reports that meat producing during the first six months was 13.9 billion pounds, up 2 per cent from a year earlier. Beef was up 1 per cent, veal was down 4 per cent, pork was up 5 per cent, and lamb and mutton were down 5 per cent.

Pistol Play Ends Hearing For Divorce

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—A Wichita man jumped to his feet in a courtroom just before his divorce case was called Tuesday and shot his wife, his mother-in-law and himself.

Judge Clement Clark had just called a witness when Burnell C. Bauguess, 29, jerked a pistol from his pocket and began shooting.

Spectators scrambled for exits or hit the floor of the room on the seventh floor of the courthouse.

Bauguess fired twice at his estranged wife, Sharon, 24, hitting her once in the head. His next shot hit Margaret D. White, 41, in the left arm.

Bauguess then put the pistol to his head and fired again.

Both Bauguess and his wife died. Mrs. White is in good condition.

Court officials said there were 25 or 30 people in the room. No one else was hit by the bullets.

New Commercial Code Agency Busy

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Secretary of State Ted W. Brown said today his new uniform commercial code department handled nearly 10,000 transactions during July, its first month of operation.

The volume led Brown to predict that 120,000 transactions would be handled in the first full year of operation. He previously had estimated about 100,000.

The secretary of state said initial expense of the department indicated that he can operate on about $40,000 less than appropriated for the full year. He added that any saving would be returned to the state's general fund.

Illinois Governor Spares Paul Crump

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Paul Crump, convicted of murder nine years ago, was spared from the electric chair Wednesday by Gov. Otto Kerner of Illinois.

Crump was to have been put to death in the Cook County (Chicago) Jail early Friday.

The governor accepted the plea of Crump and the forces that rallied to his support in a case that attracted nationwide attention that the 32-year-old Negro had rehabilitated himself during nearly a decade behind bars.

Crump, the governor said, "must be accepted as rehabilitated."

"Under the circumstances it would serve no useful purpose to society to take this man's life. The power of clemency entrusted to the governor permits giving effect to his judgment."

"This consideration, however, can never be entirely free of doubt for the real test for Paul Crump lies ahead. The years he must face in prison will serve as a true test of his willingness and ability to be of service to his fellow man."

Crump, told of the governor's action, made a brief statement to newsmen:

"I thank God, (Gov.) Kerner and all the men who had faith and worked so hard to bring this case to the attention of the governor and the public."

Crump's voice shook, and the statement was made in a weak tone. There was a glint of tears in his eyes.

Among the many persons who joined in Crump's appeal for the sparing of his life was Warden Jack Johnson of the jail who was to carry the word from Gov. Kerner to his No. 1 prisoner of many years.

Florida Bank Chief Indicted For Perjury

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal grand jury indicted a Florida bank president on perjury charges Wednesday and disclosed it is investigating the administration of a $180-million Teamsters Union fund.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said a 7-count indictment was returned against Lou Poller, 54.

He was accused of lying to the jury four times last Feb. 21, and three times March 1.

The jury disclosed in the indictment that it is investigating:

1. Whether Fred W. Strecker Jr., a trustee of the Central States Teamster pension fund, had an interest in $840,000 in loans made from the fund to the Four-Three-o-Six Duncan Corp. of St. Louis, Mo. The firm was described as a real estate holding company.

Americanadian Company

There's so much talk these days about internationalism, and continental and world government, that it would be foolish to discount the campaign of Clarence L. Barto, a South Dakota high school teacher who seeks to merge Canada and the United States into one country with a national capital at Sioux Falls, S. D.

Barto has founded the "Americanadian Company" to print and distribute post cards and to publicize his proposal in other ways. Sioux Falls' main claim to the honor which Barto would bestow upon it is that it is near the geographic center of the continent.

The District of Columbia could be expected to oppose removal of the capital to the banks of the Sioux River, and Canadians would be loath to abandon their traditional philosophy of blaming U. S. influences for evidence of "gangsterism" in Canada. "It's not our fault," Canadians say, "everything would be fine if only our children wouldn't watch all those American movies and television shows!"

The belief apparently is that without the devastating influence of their "American cousins," Canadian youngsters would grow up as beaming angels in Lord Fauntleroy suits and with no prospect of acquiring juvenile court records.

Then there's the boundary between the two countries. The belief that the entire 3,000 miles of it have been "undefended" for many years has inspired thousands of Independence Day and Dominion Day speakers. This is an oratorical tradition which must not be destroyed by light talk of merger — at least before a substitute is found.

And does the man from South Dakota realize that union would appear to many Canadians as a plot to rob them of the privilege of arguing over a "distinctive Canadian flag," or an anthem? These arguments have continued for years and show signs of diminishing.

Progress in Conservation

Soil conservation, the foremost goal of conservationists before passage of the Soil Conservation Act in 1935, has contributed greatly to the productive capacity of agriculture in the 27-year interval. It has been estimated by Department of Agriculture officials that the annual loss of topsoil to the sea has been slowed to two-thirds the rate loss of a quarter century ago.

Reclamation of abused land and preparation of poor virgin soil for crop production are other areas of land conservation which have shown steady improvement available for farm production each year testifies to the success of soil conservation.

In the next decade, a new type of conservation will be needed on a sizable segment of the nation's farmlands. More than 100 million acres of land now in crop production will be devoted to entirely different crops by 1975, predicts the Agriculture Department. This changeover to new uses will necessitate changing patterns of conservation techniques.

Once a cheap and easily replaced necessity on this continent, land has become a valuable contributor to high living standards as the population and its appetite continue to grow. When increased fertilization and improved farming techniques have increased production per acre to the ultimate, conservation will be a valuable means of adding millions of acres to the food production line.

Despite the conservation awareness of today, the Agriculture Department estimates one-half the privately held crop land is unsuitable for regular crop production. This land is a potentially rich reserve of food output, and the need for it may not be many years away.

Economy Is Shifting

George Meany, President of the AFL-CIO, supporting President Kennedy's trade bill, offered some very interesting data:

"Since 1934 the United States has expanded its volume of exports from $2.2 billion to $20 billion worth of goods in 1961. During the first five months of 1962, exports were running at a rate of $20.9 billion, 5 per cent ahead of the same period in 1961. These goods were produced on American farms and in American factories. They represent roughly 4 per cent of U. S. total output of goods and services, income to American businessmen, farmers, and workers, and some 4 million export-related jobs."

Referring to our relations with the Common Market, Meany made the point:

"If the Common Market achieves its goal, it will emerge as one of the world's greatest mass markets. It may include as many as 300 million people. Exports from the U. S. to Western Europe already amounted to over $6 billion in 1961.

We bought about $4 billion worth of goods from them. Thus the balance of trade was over $2 billion in favor of the United States last year with this potential market area, which can grow and absorb more U. S. products in the future, if the U. S. can negotiate effectively with it. Further U. S. dealings with the Common Market will be based upon hard negotiation and bargaining, and these negotiations must be aided by the legislation which enables the U. S. to gradually reduce, through a 'staging' process, the tariffs on a variety of goods if, and only if, reciprocity is achieved at the bargaining table."

This has to be recognized if the United States is to retain its seven or eight percent a year of foreign trade. It will have to be bargained for. As the world is now constituted, the free market has been made possible by world-wide government restrictions. The Common Market, which is a growing institution, will set up barriers against us in terms of quotas, exchange arrangements, tariffs, or whatever they may feel is important to them. The Soviet bloc cuts off a part of the world. The United Arab Republic and its Islamic satellites will sooner or later become a hard economic bloc. In Latin America, no such bloc appears yet, but there is strong anti-American sentiment which needs to be liquidated.

Whose task is it to bargain and to negotiate? From the standpoint of the free enterprise system, it would be preferable if each business enterprise could bargain on its own. But this has been made impossible by the organization of these enormous government - arranged and managed blocs. Nor can Congress, which has the constitutional authority to pass legislation on this subject, negotiate with these vast inter-governmental commercial blocs.

There is then in this world something altogether changed which we have to recognize. Although this Congress is not desirous of expanding executive authority, it is nevertheless forced to recognize that only the President and the Secretary of State can negotiate with foreign governments and all international trade associations are government-owned and controlled.

It is difficult for the private enterprise system, which is fundamental in American life, to recognize the changes we face in the existence of these altered economic relationships. George Meany says:

"The AFL-CIO believes that the national welfare cannot be served unless the legislation adopted to expand trade takes into account the facts of change, the effects of change and the need to insure the strength of the economy at home. In short, the national welfare will not be served by an effort merely to suppress trade or ignore those hurt by trade. The nation will also suffer from efforts to depress the American economy for the sake of an international balance of payments accounting or a trade surplus on the books. A trade surplus must be based on domestic strength, not domestic weakness."

The trade bill involves many difficult adjustments but realism forces one to recognize that we are entering upon a period of negotiationalism and that this alone can save the private enterprise system. The alternative can be economic isolation, to support controls which would have to be set up to keep our people employed. Almost a third of all American exports go to Western Europe and it is a fact, that the higher the wages in an industry, the greater the export. The economy of the world is shifting.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

THE LAST vacant apartment in a new co-op finally was sold, and the other tenants naturally were curious to know what kind of people would occupy it. The first day a brand-new doorman was put down in the hall, and everybody hastened to read the inscription thereon. It read, "SCRAM!"

You've got to keep on your toes to be abreast of progress in fast-growing Phoenix, Arizona. A harassed mother told her son there, "Why must you stay underfoot when I'm trying to get the place cleaned up? Go down and play in that empty lot at the corner." The boy returned presently, to report, "Mother, there's a 22-story office building there!"

When the late Carolyn Wells earned enough money to buy some long-wanted books for her library, she pasted this plate in every volume: "They borrow books; they will not buy; they have no ethics or religion. I wish some kind Burbankian guy would cross my books with homing pigeons."

Old Pop Kislik looked up from his paper and announced, "It says here that 3,000 elephants a year are used to make the ivory keys for our pianos." "My, my," approved his wife. "Isn't it amazing what they can train those big animals to do!"

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M. D.

Dear Doctor: Forty years ago I tore a knee cartilage. Now the knee swells and keeps giving way. I'm a field surveyor working on a dam. Must I change jobs?

Mr. G. S. (Calif.)

Dear Mr. S.: Old knee joints often wear out. That cartilage injury probably hastened this.

The bottom of the thigh bone resembles yo-yo halves. To bend the knee, each rolls in a shallow dimple atop the leg bone. A half moon - shaped rubbery cartilage around the outer edge of each dimple deepens the socket.

In the half-bent knee, the thigh bone jams hard into these cushions. A pushing twist may tear or crush one.

You feel bone-crushing pain. The knee swells. When the torn cartilage is wedged into the joint, it can't bend or straighten.

Sometimes a tug on the leg widens the joint and the cartilage snaps back into place. Pain evaporates, and you're all better.

If not, numb the pain with ice. The doctor may attach weights to your leg to work like that tug. Later, a splint or elastic bandage can rest the knee while you're steady the joint.

The surgeon can cut out any cartilage that won't heal and any that continually irritate the joint. They invite joint degeneration—your problem!

Splints and braces can steady worn-out knees. So can exercises. Flat on your back, lift the foot with knee straight, hold, let down. Then repeat. Stop before the strain irritates the knee.

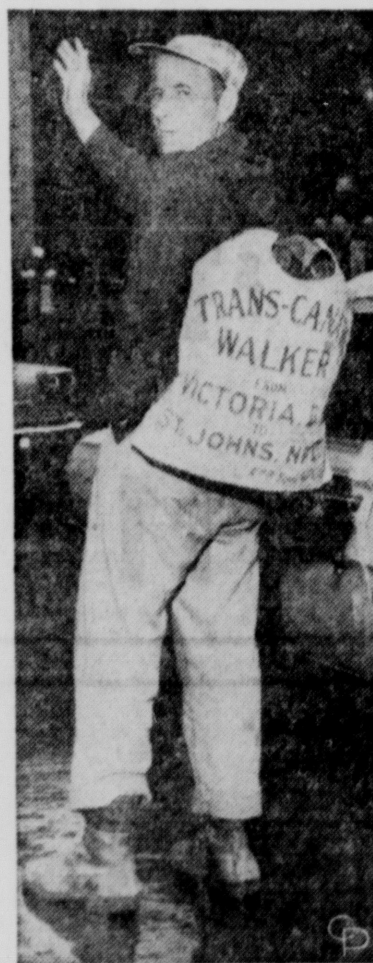

Wearing a heavy shoe forces muscles to exercise harder.

Aspirin, massage and a hot pack, tub or heating lamp help soothe pain. Slimming down takes a load off that knee. If a day in the field strains your knee, transfer to a desk.

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

Child's Camp Hard on Dad

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—When you are bringing up children, your life has many turning points.

Such as when you take a young daughter to her first summer camp.

I fought back hard when the idea was raised to send Tracy Ann, who is 9, away to camp for a full month.

"Why, I didn't sleep away from home until I was 12," I objected. "And then when I did go to a Boy Scout camp, it was for only two weeks."

"Yes, and you probably rode there in a horse and buggy," said my wife, Francis. "But they do things differently now. Most camps want the children for two months."

"But Tracy will die of homesickness. She'll be among complete strangers."

"No, she won't. Three friends from her school are already at the camp."

Well, Tracy herself pitched in and said there was no one left in the neighborhood to play with under 70, and please, please, please, couldn't she go to summer camp? So, against my own judgment, I caved in, and said yes.

On the morning I was to take Tracy to camp, she woke and yelped, "This is the day!"

She kissed Frances goodbye, kissed our cat, Lady Dottie, on her pink nose, and off we went.

On the train passengers turned and smiled at Tracy in her snappy camp uniform. She was very affectionate, and cuddled close to me as she dozed after reading me a comic book—the last she would see for a month, as they don't allow comic books in camp.

Awaking, she asked thoughtfully, "Will you miss me, Daddy?"

"Of course I'll miss you," I replied. "And Mommy will miss you, too, and so will Lady Dottie. The whole apartment will be flooded with our tears."

Tracy nodded her head cheerfully at this blissful picture of family sorrow she'd leave behind her.

"I'll miss you, too," she said gravely.

But when we reached the camp itself, she quickly dropped my hand she'd clung to—and left a lonesome feeling in my fingers. She had caught sight of one of her friends, and the two romped happily away across the green acres, leaving butterflies as they ran.

I had lunch at the camp with Tracy and her three friends and felt as out of place as a camel at a picnic of squirrels. Just before leaving I walked down to the lake with them. Tracy brushed away the hand I held out to help her down the steep path.

"Give me a kiss," I said. She squigged up her freckled face impatiently, eager to be off. The next moment Tracy dashed away, laughing with her girl pals, and she never glanced back or turned to wave farewell.

I stood there, feeling like a middle-aged orphan.

I knew that what I had brought to that summer camp I would never quite get back altogether in all the seasons I have yet to know.

Trouble Mounts for Ohioan After Hoax Report of Death

CINCINNATI (AP) — "I don't have to answer your questions," said Arbie Jesse to a reporter. "Let me see your credentials first."

The exchange occurred in Norwood police station after officers picked up Jesse at his home for questioning about a hoax report of Jesse's death.

No charge was filed immediately, but trouble piled up fast for Jesse who admitted to officers he made the telephone call Tuesday reporting his own death.

He said he did it "to make my wife feel sorry for me."

While Norwood officers took Jesse into custody as he returned to his home, his parents, who believed him dead, were enroute to Cincinnati from West Virginia for his funeral.

Army officials reported special order were set up to fly Jesse's brother back for the funeral from a camp in Germany. He was also enroute.

It started with a telephone caller who reported to Norwood police that Arbie Lee Jesse, 36, of Norwood had died early Tuesday in a highway collision at Maysville.

The caller identified himself as Chief Rosser of Maysville police, and said Jesse's car collided with a tractor-trailer truck. The body had been taken to a funeral home, the caller said, and he wanted Jesse's family notified.

Jesse's wife, Velma, mother of three young children, started making funeral arrangements. It was a Cincinnati funeral parlor operator, trying to make arrangements to bring the body here, who discovered the hoax.

The funeral home in Maysville knew of no body.

The real chief of police in Maysville knew of no accident or death.

Americanadian Company

There's so much talk these days about internationalism, and continental and world government, that it would be foolish to discount the campaign of Clarence L. Barto, a South Dakota high school teacher who seeks to merge Canada and the United States into one country with a national capital at Sioux Falls, S. D.

Barto has founded the "Americanadian Company" to print and distribute post cards and to publicize his proposal in other ways. Sioux Falls' main claim to the honor which Barto would bestow upon it is that it is near the geographic center of the continent.

The District of Columbia could be expected to oppose removal of the capital to the banks of the Sioux River, and Canadians would be loath to abandon their traditional philosophy of blaming U. S. influences for evidence of "gangsterism" in Canada. "It's not our fault," Canadians say, "everything would be fine if only our children wouldn't watch all those American movies and television shows!"

The belief apparently is that without the devastating influence of their "American cousins," Canadian youngsters would grow up as beaming angels in Lord Fauntleroy suits and with no prospect of acquiring juvenile court records.

Then there's the boundary between the two countries. The belief that the entire 3,000 miles of it have been "undefended" for many years has inspired thousands of Independence Day and Dominion Day speakers. This is an oratorical tradition which must not be destroyed by light talk of merger — at least before a substitute is found.

And does the man from South Dakota realize that union would appear to many Canadians as a plot to rob them of the privilege of arguing over a "distinctive Canadian flag," or an anthem? These arguments have continued for years and show signs of diminishing.

Progress in Conservation

Soil conservation, the foremost goal of conservationists before passage of the Soil Conservation Act in 1935, has contributed greatly to the productive capacity of agriculture in the 27-year interval. It has been estimated by Department of Agriculture officials that the annual loss of topsoil to the sea has been slowed to two - thirds the rate loss of a quarter century ago.

Reclamation of abused land and preparation of poor virgin soil for crop production are other areas of land conservation which have shown steady improvement available for farm production each year testifies to the success of soil conservation.

In the next decade, a new type of conservation will be needed on a sizable segment of the nation's farmlands. More than 100 million acres of land now in crop production will be devoted to entirely different crops by 1975, predicts the Agriculture Department. This changeover to new uses will necessitate changing patterns of conservation techniques.

Once a cheap and easily replaced necessity on this continent, land has become a valuable contributor to high living standards as the population and its appetite continue to grow. When increased fertilization and improved farming techniques have increased production per acre to the ultimate, conservation will be a valuable means of adding millions of acres to the food production line.

Despite the conservation awareness of today, the Agriculture Department estimates one - half the privately held crop land is unsuitable for regular crop production. This land is a potentially rich reserve of food output, and the need for it may not be many years away.

Economy Is Shifting

George Meany, President of the AFL-CIO, supporting President Kennedy's trade bill, offered some very interesting data:

"Since 1934 the United States has expanded its volume of exports from $2.2 billion to $20 billion worth of goods in 1961. During the first five months of 1962, exports were running at a rate of $20.9 billion, 5 per cent ahead of the same period in 1961. These goods were produced on American farms and in American factories. They represent roughly 4 per cent of U. S. total output of goods and services, income to American businessmen, farmers, and workers, and some 4 million export - related jobs."

Referring to our relations with the Common Market, Meany made the point:

"If the Common Market achieves its goal, it will emerge as one of the world's greatest mass markets. It may include as many as 300 million people. Exports from the U. S. to Western Europe already amounted to over $6 billion in 1961."

We bought about $4 billion worth of goods from them. Thus the balance of trade was over $2 billion in favor of the United States last year with this potential market area, which can grow and absorb more U. S. products in the future, if the U. S. can negotiate effectively with it. Further U. S. dealings with the Common Market will be based upon hard negotiation and bargaining, and these negotiations must be aided by the legislation which enables the U. S. to gradually reduce, through a 'staging' process, the tariffs on a variety of goods if, and only if, reciprocity is achieved at the bargaining table."

This has to be recognized if the United States is to retain its seven or eight percent a year of foreign trade. It will have to be bargained for. As the world is now constituted, the free market has been made possible by world-wide government restrictions. The Common Market, which is a growing institution, will set up barriers against us in terms of quotas, exchange arrangements, tariffs, or whatever they may feel is important to them. The Soviet bloc cuts off a part of the world. The United Arab Republic and its Islamic satellites will sooner or later become a hard economic bloc. In Latin America, no such bloc appears yet, but there is strong anti - American sentiment which needs to be liquidated.

Whose task is it to bargain and to negotiate? From the standpoint of the free enterprise system, it would be preferable if each business enterprise could bargain on its own. But this has been made impossible by the organization of these enormous government - arranged and managed blocs. Nor can Congress, which has the constitutional authority to pass legislation on this subject, negotiate with these vast inter-governmental commercial blocs.

There is then in this world something altogether changed which we have to recognize. Although this Congress is not desirous of expanding executive authority, it is nevertheless forced to recognize that only the President and the Secretary of State can negotiate with foreign governments and all international trade associations are government - owned and controlled.

It is difficult for the private enterprise system, which is fundamental in American life, to recognize the changes we face in the existence of these altered economic relationships. George Meany says:

"The AFL-CIO believes that the national welfare cannot be served unless the legislation adopted to expand trade takes into account the facts of change, the effects of change and the need to insure the strength of the economy at home. In short, the national welfare will not be served by an effort merely to suppress trade or ignore those hurt by trade. The nation will also suffer from efforts to depress the American economy for the sake of an international balance of payments accounting or a trade surplus on the books. A trade surplus must be based on domestic strength, not domestic weakness."

The trade bill involves many difficult adjustments but realism forces one to recognize that we are entering upon a period of negotiationalism and that this alone can save the private enterprise system. The alternative can be economic isolation, to support controls which would have to be set up to keep our people employed. Almost a third of all American exports go to Western Europe and it is a fact, that the higher the wages in an industry, the greater the export. The economy of the world is shifting.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

THE LAST vacant apartment in a new co-op finally was sold, and the other tenants naturally were curious to know what kind of people would occupy it. The first day a brand-new doorman was put down in the hall, and everybody hastened to read the inscription thereon. It read, "Scram!"

You've got to keep on your toes to be abreast of progress in fast-growing Phoenix, Arizona. A harassed mother told her son there, "Why must you stay underfoot when I'm trying to get the place cleaned up? Go down and play in that empty lot at the corner." The boy returned presently, to report, "Mother, there's a 22-story office building there!"

When the late Carolyn Wells earned enough money to buy some long-wanted books for her library, she pasted this plate in every volume: "They borrow books; they will not buy; they have no ethics or religion. I wish some kind Burbankian guy would cross my books with homing pigeons."

Old Pop Kislik looked up from his paper and announced, "It says here that 3,000 elephants a year are used to make the ivory keys for our pianos." "My, my," approved his wife. "Isn't it amazing what they can train those big animals to do!"

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M. D.
Dear Doctor: Forty years ago I tore a knee cartilage. Now the knee swells and keeps giving way. I'm a field surveyor working on a dam. Must I change jobs?

Mr. G. S. (Calif.)
Dear Mr. S.: Old knee joints often wear out. That cartilage injury probably hastened this.

The bottom of the thigh bone resembles yo-yo halves. To bend the knee, each rolls in a shallow dimple atop the leg bone. A half moon - shaped rubbery cartilage around the outer edge of each dimple deepens the socket.

In the half-bent knee, the thigh bone jams hard into these cushions. A pushing twist may tear or crush one.

You feel bone-crushing pain. The knee swells. When the torn cartilage is wedged into the joint, it can't bend or straighten.

Sometimes a tug on the leg widens the joint and the cartilage snaps back into place. Pain evaporates, and you're all better.

If not, numb the pain with ice. The doctor may attach weights to your leg to work like that tug.

Later, a splint or elastic bandage can rest the knee while you're to steady the joint.

The surgeon can cut out any cartilage that won't heal and any that continually irritate the joint. They invite joint degeneration—your problem!

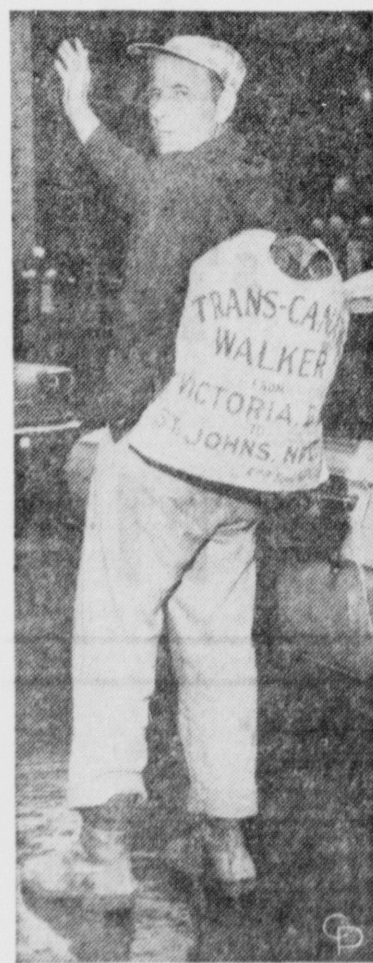

Splints and braces can steady worn-out knees. So can exercises. Flat on your back, lift the foot with knee straight, hold, let down. Then repeat. Stop before the strain irritates the knee.

Wearing a heavy shoe forces muscles to exercise harder.

Aspirin, massage and a hot pack, tub or heating lamp help soothe pain. Slimming down takes a load off that knee. If a day in the field strains your knee, transfer to a desk.

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer in-

Child's Camp Hard on Dad

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—When you are bringing up children, your life has many turning points.

Such as when you take a young daughter to her first summer camp.

I fought back hard when the idea was raised to send Tracy Ann, who is 9, away to camp for a full month.

"Why, I didn't sleep away from home until I was 12," I objected. "And then when I did go to a Boy Scout camp, it was for only two weeks."

"Yes, and you probably rode there in a horse and buggy," said my wife, Francis. "But they do things differently now. Most camps want the children for two months."

"But Tracy will die of homesickness. She'll be among complete strangers."

"No, she won't. Three friends from her school are already at the camp."

Ex-Footballer Files Suit for 'False Arrest'

CHICAGO (AP) — A former tackle for the Chicago Bears professional football team has filed a $200,000 damage suit against the city of Toronto, Ohio, and a Toronto theatre owner — charging false arrest and damage to his reputation.

The suit was filed here in U. S. District Court by Lee Artoe, 43, now a Chicago real estate man and part owner of a firm which sells and services motion picture projectors. He played for the Chicago Bears in the 1940s.

Artoe claims that on Nov. 15, 1960, a Toronto theatre owner, George A. Manos, refused to pay for servicing Artoe had done to the theatre's movie equipment.

The suit charges that Manos threatened to have Artoe arrested if he did not leave town. Later, in his hotel room, Artoe charges he was arrested and held overnight in the city jail.

He said in his suit he was convicted by a Toronto police magistrate on a charge of disorderly conduct. A county appellate court reversed the decision, the suit says.

Artoe claims his reputation was damaged as a result of the incident.

No date was set for the trial before federal Judge James B. Parsons.

Today is Thursday, Aug. 2, the 214th day of 1962. There are 151 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this day in 1826, Daniel Webster delivered the eulogy to John Adams and Thomas Jefferson, the second and third U.S. presidents, respectively, both of whom died on July 4, 1826. It was in this speech that the famed orator employed the now famous phrase, "Sink or swim, live or die."

On this date:

In 1776, the Declaration of Independence was ordered enshrined in parchment.

In 1817, the first steamboat on the Mississippi River arrived at St. Louis.

In 1876, famed scout and U.S. Marshal Wild Bill Hickok was murdered in Deadwood, Dakota Territory.

In 1940, France's puppet Petain government condemned Free French leader Gen. Charles de Gaulle to death during World War II.

In 1956, death came to the last surviving Civil War soldier in the Union Army, 109-year-old Albert Woolson.

Today's birthday:

Actress Myrna Loy is 47.

Thought for today:

Wear your learning like your watch, in a private pocket; and do not pull it out and strike it merely to show that you have one—Earl of Chesterfield.

This Is What District Vets Want To Know

Questions of interest to ex-service men should be given to Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer, James Shea. His office is in the basement of the Courthouse.

Q-Is it possible for me to have the VA give me a physical examination? A-Only if you need the physical examination in connection with applying for VA compensation, or pension, life insurance, or hospital or domiciliary care.

Q-How can a veteran's former wife get his Government Life Insurance benefits after he dies when he had a later wife who gets nothing? I know that this occurred. A-The veteran evidently had named his earlier wife as his insurance beneficiary and did not change either because (a) he intended for her to get the insurance benefits, or (b) he forgot to change the designation of his beneficiary to his later wife. The VA is required by law to pay insurance benefits to the designated beneficiary. That is a good example of what I have been talking of for a long time, "make certain that your Government Life Insurance Beneficiaries are current."

Q-I am a World War I veteran, and am receiving a service connected disability compensation. In the event of my death, would my wife be entitled to any death benefits? A-If your death resulted from your service connected disability, your wife would be entitled to compensation. If your death resulted from a non service connected cause, your wife would be entitled to a pension depending upon her annual income.

Q-I know one widow of a Spanish-American War veteran who received $65 per month. Another one gets $75 per month. Can you explain the difference? A-The $75 check goes to the widow of a Spanish-American War veteran who was married to the veteran during all or part of that war. The $65 check is going to a widow who did not marry the veteran until after the Spanish-American War.

Q-I am receiving a 40 per cent service connected disability compensation from the VA. Some friends of mine receive extra compensation allowances for their children under 18. May I make application for these allowances for my children? A-Sorry, but you cannot. Additional allowances for dependents are granted only to veterans with disabilities rated at 50 per cent or more.

Farm Tractor Accident Is Fatal to Man, 56

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—A farm tractor with mowing machine attachment proved a death machine for a 56-year-old man who tried to come to the rescue of his 15-year-old grandson when the tractor ran amok. Robert Spangenberg of Rt. 5, Portsmouth, was injured fatally Wednesday when he became entangled in the mower.

The hamburger had its origin with the Russian Tartars. Seamen from the city of Hamburg brought it to the western world.

Train Kills Woman, 77

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP)—A train struck and killed Bertha Hamm, 77, of nearby Midland as she sought to cross tracks near her home Wednesday night, the state highway patrol reported.

Regional Farm Parley Planned in St. Louis

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio farmers, businessmen, educators and civic and government leaders are being invited to a regional conference at St. Louis Sept. 17-18 on the Kennedy administration's rural areas redevelopment program. The meeting, covering nine states in all, is the first of five called for September and October around the nation by Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman.

Lumber Firm Damaged

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—The Ray Thomas Lumber Co. just north of here along Ohio 77 suffered damage unofficially estimated at between $50,000 and $100,000 in a fire late Wednesday.

Local Man Held For Grand Jury

In Municipal Court action yesterday, Christopher Columbus Evans, 329 Huston St., entered a plea of guilty to charges of illegal entry with the intent to commit larceny.

He was bound to the Grand Jury by Judge Sterling Lamb. Bond was set at $2,000.

Evans was charged with being involved in an attempted burglary of Messick's Market in Ashville. Two juveniles were also involved.

They broke a plate glass window valued at $175 to gain admittance, according to William Pontious.

Evans was on probation for gas theft.

Art Workshop To Be Held at Unioto HS

Several hundred teachers are expected to attend the first statewide art workshop, scheduled at Unioto School on August 27-28. The event is being sponsored by the Organization of Art for Rural Youth of Ohio.

The planning committee is composed of E. H. Blain, president of the organization and head of the art department at Urbana College; John S. Strickler, art supervisor, Marysville; Mrs. Mildred Davis, Pickaway County elementary teacher; and Mrs. Lester Swank, Ross County elementary teacher.

A practical program has been planned, with various phases to be taught by experienced teachers. Participants may attend six different classes — chalk, crayon, metal, mosaics, painting and papier mache — with the possibility of a seventh, clay.

There will be commercial exhibits as well as various school displays.

As a part of the program, tours will be made to Adena, Mound City, the Ross County Historical Museum and The Mead Corporation.

Ex-Footballer Files Suit for 'False Arrest'

CHICAGO (AP) — A former tackle for the Chicago Bears professional football team has filed a $200,000 damage suit against the city of Toronto, Ohio, and a Toronto theatre owner — charging false arrest and damage to his reputation.

The suit was filed here in U. S. District Court by Lee Artoe, 43, now a Chicago real estate man and part owner of a firm which sells and services motion picture projectors. He played for the Chicago Bears in the 1940s.

Artoe claims that on Nov. 15, 1960, a Toronto theatre owner, George A. Manos, refused to pay for servicing Artoe had done to the theatre's movie equipment.

The suit charges that Manos threatened to have Artoe arrested if he did not leave town. Later, in his hotel room, Artoe charges he was arrested and held overnight in the city jail.

He said in his suit he was convicted by a Toronto police magistrate on a charge of disorderly conduct. A county appellate court reversed the decision, the suit said.

Artoe claims his reputation was damaged as a result of the incident.

No date was set for the trial before federal Judge James B. Parsons.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, Aug. 2, the 214th day of 1962. There are 151 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this day in 1826, Daniel Webster delivered the eulogy to John Adams and Thomas Jefferson, the second and third U.S. presidents, respectively, both of whom died on July 4, 1826. It was in this speech that the famed orator employed the now famous phrase, "Sink or swim, live or die."

On this date:

In 1776, the Declaration of Independence was ordered enshrined in parchment.

In 1817, the first steamboat on the Mississippi River arrived at St. Louis.

In 1876, famed scout and U.S. Marshal Wild Bill Hickok was murdered in Deadwood, Dakota Territory.

In 1940, France's puppet Petain government condemned Free French leader Gen. Charles de Gaulle to death during World War II.

In 1956, death came to the last surviving Civil War soldier in the Union Army, 109-year-old Albert Woolson.

Today's birthday: Actress Myrna Loy is 47. Thought for today: Wear your learning like your watch, in a private pocket; and do not pull it out and strike it merely to show that you have one—Earl of Chesterfield.

The United States consumes about 70,000,000,000 gallons of water every day.

This Is What District Vets Want To Know

Questions of interest to ex-service men should be given to Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer, James Shea. His office is in the basement of the Courthouse.

Q—Is it possible for me to have the VA give me a physical examination? A—Only if you need the physical examination in connection with applying for VA compensation, or pension, life insurance, or hospital or domiciliary care.

Q—How can a veteran's former wife get his Government Life Insurance benefits after he dies when he had a later wife who gets nothing? I know that this occurred. A—The veteran evidently had named his earlier wife as his insurance beneficiary and did not change either because (a) he intended for her to get the insurance benefits, or (b) he forgot to change the designation of his beneficiary to his later wife. The VA is required by law to pay insurance benefits to the designated beneficiary. That is a good example of what I have been talking of for a long time, "make certain that your Government Life Insurance Beneficiaries are current."

Q—I am a World War I veteran, and am receiving a service connected disability compensation. In the event of my death, would my wife be entitled to any death benefits? A—If your death resulted from your service connected disability, your wife would be entitled to compensation. If you death resulted from a non service connected cause, your wife would be entitled to a pension depending upon her annual income.

Q—I know one widow of a Spanish-American War veteran who received $65 per month. Another one gets $75 per month. Can you explain the difference? A—The $75 check goes to the widow of a Spanish-American War veteran who was married to the veteran during all or part of that war. The $65 check is going to a widow who did not marry the veteran until after the Spanish-American War.

Q—I am receiving a 40 per cent service connected disability compensation from the VA. Some friends of mine receive extra compensation allowances for their children under 18. May I make application for these allowances for my children? A—Sorry, but you cannot. Additional allowances for dependents are granted only to veterans with disabilities rated at 50 per cent or more.

Views on Television - Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Chuck Connors will deny it furiously, but the sad truth is that Lucas McCain is fickle.

For the past year, television's stalwart, right-thinking, fast-shooting "Rifleman" has been seriously romancing a girl named Millie. Lucas will soon put her out of sight and mind. And, at the same time, a new girl will enter his life.

The ABC program soon will start its fifth season. Earlier this week star Connors threw a party to introduce the pretty red-head, Patricia Blair, who in the third new program of the fall will catch our hero's unexpectedly roving eye.

Originally, "The Rifleman" added dark-haired Joan Taylor to the cast of regulars, partly to inject some romance into the adventure-filled life of widower McCain and his young son and partly to satisfy feminine fans of the program who wrote worriedly about the lack of gentle, motherly influences on the young boy.

But a popular television series runs into certain serious problems as it grows older. There is crying need for change and variety, but there are limitations. Obviously, they couldn't change the characters played by tall, good-humored Chuck or by Johnny Crawford, playing his son. One answer was as new romantic interest. So Pat, a Dallas girl who moved on to acting after a modeling career in New York, got her chance.

In order to tie up all the loose ends and to stem a flood of fan letters demanding to know what happened to Millie, the program will explain she suddenly was "called back East." Then Pat, playing a lady called Lou, will come to town and take over the local hotel.

Troy Donahue gets a new name and character when he moves from "Surfside Six" to "Hawaiian Eye" this season. Rumor hath it that "Hawaiian Eye" would have been among ABC's discards had not the producers strengthened the show with the addition of Troy, a current teen-age rage.

Designers Doubt Television Helps in Sale of Fashions

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—Does seeing fashion on television evoke in you an almost unrestrainable urge to empty the sugar bowl, hock the family heirlooms and indulge in an orgy of shopping?

Some New York designers doubt it.

The question of television's effectiveness in presenting fashion came up after the Telstar broadcast from Paris earlier this week showing five minutes of clothes from the houses of Balmain and Dior.

"Telstar is a wonderful, new thing," commented Norman Norrell, considered the dean of Ameri-

Exciting Novel And Flattering Bathing Caps

By SUSAN BARDEN

An exciting new collection of bathing caps that look like charming hats, all very light in weight, feminine, gay and flattering, has been introduced this season by one of America's outstanding manufacturers.

Nylon lace, nylon organdy, nylon tricot and nylon straw, as well as many of the acetates, are among the man-made materials used in these beauties designed to top the latest swim suits.

All of the novel miracle fabrics selected will keep their crisp look, dry quickly whether they are dunked in salt water or chlorinated fresh water and come in a wide choice of colors guaranteed not to fade or run.

Under their frivolous exteriors the caps get right down to business and are manufactured with very practical ideas in view. Never for a moment is their primary purpose sacrificed for looks. Each of the styles have sturdy swim caps built in underneath. They fit the head and cover the hair comfortably and also keep the hair and ears protected from water even when the wearer is diving into a pool or frolicking in the surf.

Pauline Trigere: "Television is not a good medium. They tell you not to wear black. Poof. And with all the elaborate chichi, it's difficult to see the quality look of clothes."

Cell Chapman: "I don't think television fashion comes through. If it were broadcast in color—perhaps."

The thing that bothered Norrell was exhibiting a Dior costume on television before the Dior fall line was presented to the press.

"Absolutely wild," he said. "It's not cricket. It takes the edge off the showing."

"Besides," he went on, referring to designer's continual fear of having his best fashions pirated by unscrupulous stores and manufacturers before he can get them out himself, "it's the beginning of something frightening. Reunion Planned

The 36th annual Lanman Reunion will be held August 5 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Garold Lanman, Pataskala. There will be a picnic lunch at noon.

Ever fill ribs of celery with a soft cheese mixture and then press the ribs back into stalk shape? The next step is to slice and use as a salad with lettuce and French dressing.

When you are buying fresh lima beans, see that the shells are well filled, clean and dark green in color. Beans from pods that are flabby and yellowed are usually tough and have poor flavor.

Small-fry delight: tiny marshmallows added to fruit cup.

Dear Abby: Overzealous Confessions!

DEAR ABBY: I go with a girl who goes to confession and tells the priest all kinds of things about herself that are not true. I wouldn't mind so much, but she includes me. Abby, she told me she doesn't know why she does it, but when she starts to talk she can't stop. I go to the same priest and I don't want him to think I am that kind of person. Should I tell the priest that she is lying? I am 17 and so is she.

DEAR ABBY: Is it proper for a bride to play the piano at her own wedding? My daughter is a musician and wants to provide her own piano music. She will be married at home.

DEAR DOUBTFUL: Your daughter should be satisfied to star at her wedding in the role of a BRIDE.

DEAR ABBY: I am active in our ladies' church group and I am considered a quiet person. We had a meeting today and got into a discussion on our rummage sale plans. While I was telling my views on how it should be run, one of the ladies reached over and held my mouth shut while she explained how SHE thought it should be run. I used to think a lot of this woman, and didn't let on how hurt I was. I went home and cried. Now tell me, Abby, what should I have done?

DEAR HURT: I suppose you could have bitten her, but perhaps she was only trying to be funny. You were wise to have said nothing. Your friend's action revealed her bad manners.

DEAR ABBY: I think you are a big phony. You claim that you answer every letter you get, but I wrote to you on June 9th and have looked in your column every day and you never answered my letter. I think you make up your own letters. I dare you to print this.

Designers Doubt Television Helps in Sale of Fashions

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—Does seeing fashion on television evoke in you an almost unrestrainable urge to empty the sugar bowl, hock the family heirlooms and indulge in an orgy of shopping?

Some New York designers doubt it.

The question of television's effectiveness in presenting fashion came up after the Telstar broadcast from Paris earlier this week showing five minutes of clothes from the houses of Balmain and Dior.

"Telstar is a wonderful, new thing," commented Norman Norell, considered the dean of American designers, "but, I have never thought of television as a fashion medium. It does not come off."

Pauline Trigere: "Television is not a good medium. They tell you not to wear black. Poof. And with all the elaborate chichi, it's difficult to see the quality look of clothes."

Cecil Chapman: "I don't think television fashion comes through. If it were broadcast in color—perhaps."

The thing that bothered Norell was exhibiting a Dior costume on television before the Dior fall line was presented to the press.

"Absolutely wild," he said. "It's not cricket. It takes the edge off the showing."

"Besides," he went on, referring to designer's continual fear of having his best fashions pirated by unscrupulous stores and manufacturers before he can get them out himself, "it's the beginning of something frightening. Imagine—you design something, and within two hours the whole world can have seen it. Frightening."

Miss Woolever, Mr. Ary United In Marriage

Miss Doris Eileen Woolever and Mr. Donald Eugene Ary were united in marriage July 21 at the Christ of Christian Union Church in Newport.

The new Mrs. Ary is a 1962 graduate of Madison South High School. The couple is now residing at 327 N. Main St., Washington C. H.

Reunion Planned

The 36th annual Lanman Reunion will be held August 5 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Garold Lanman, Pataskala. There will be a picnic lunch at noon.

Ever fill ribs of celery with a soft cheese mixture and then press the ribs back into stalk shape? The next step is to slice and use as a salad with lettuce and French dressing.

When you are buying fresh lima beans, see that the shells are well filled, clean and dark green in color. Beans from pods that are flabby and yellowed are usually tough and have poor flavor.

Small-fry delight: tiny marshmallows added to fruit cup.

Unemployment Drops Sharply

Idle Rate Declines To 2-Year Low Level

WASHINGTON (AP)—Unemployment fell by 445,000 in July, and the idle rate dropped to its lowest point in more than two years.

The job improvement may take some of the steam out of the drive in some quarters for an immediate tax cut to improve the economy.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg said in announcing the July job figures today that the employment situation is only one of a mixed bag of statistics which the administration is scanning in seeking a tax cut decision.

Goldberg called the new job figures encouraging and said it is always welcome news when unemployment declines.

Goldberg announced these job totals for July:

Unemployment rate—Declined to 5.3 per cent of the labor force, compared with 5.5 per cent in June and 5.4 per cent in May. These figures are adjusted for seasonal variations.

Employment—Increased slightly by 25,000 to 69,564,000. This is a record number of Americans at work, over a million more than in July last year.

Unemployment—Declined 445,000 to 4,018,000. This is 1.1 million fewer than July last year and about the same level as in July 1960.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—If you could go through a newspaper library's files on the talks about banning nuclear tests—day by day, back for years—you'd be bewildered by the details and maybe sick from the result.

The result has been nothing so far.

But it's not only the lack of progress, or the jockeying, or the hair-splitting, or, particularly in the case of Russia, the switching around that is disturbing.

Nor is recognizing the mutually profound distrust of the United States and Russia the most grisly part of the expedition through these old stories from Geneva where most of the American-Russian talks were held.

The most disturbing part is the realization that through all these years of talking—and even in the time it takes to go through the files—the two giants are straining to build even more terrible nuclear strength.

It would be nice to think the new hope President Kennedy held out Wednesday at his news conference—the possibility this country can trim down its conditions for a test ban treaty—might bring agreement at last.

But the odds are against it in the record of failure and the almost morbid, but realistic, tradition of suspicion.

The two big powers can tell pretty well if either of them tests in the atmosphere or beyond. If that was all that was involved, apparently they could agree not to test and neither could cheat without the other's knowing.

But the big sticking point is the sneaky underground tests. Both sides have instruments that can detect underground disturbances if they are beyond a certain magnitude.

But on some kinds of underground rumbles the instruments seem not so sure. Yet, judging from what Kennedy said, this country has developed detection instruments more sensitive than anything in the past.

As recently as April 1961 the United States and Russia at Geneva reached complete disagreement on a test ban treaty. At that time the United States laid down demands for an inspection system.

The talks that year had actual-

Money Order Theft Ring Boss Nabbed

CLEVELAND (AP)—A Cleveland man described by the FBI as the leader of a gang that stole $50,000 in money orders and cashed them across the country has been arrested here.

The FBI identified the man as Cornelius Lawson, 38, who was charged with passing two money orders for $100 each on blanks of the U. S. Navigation Co. of New York.

Lawson waived a hearing and was lodged in the Cuyahoga County jail in lieu of $7,500 bond.

Four other Clevelanders said to be members of the gang were arrested in Columbia, S. C., July 19 and are free under bond awaiting grand jury action.

They were identified by the FBI as John C. Fitchard, 30; Clifford L. Suttler Jr., 27; Jonah Wootan, 22, and William M. Allen Jr., 28.

Albert Williams, 32, of Cleveland was arrested by police here July 20 and is awaiting sentence for passing a phony $100 money order at a gasoline station. He pleaded guilty in U. S. District Court July 27, but Judge James C. Connell deferred sentence pending a report from the court's probation office.

E. E. Hargett, agent in charge of the FBI here, said more than 500 money orders blanks issued by the U. S. Navigation Co., American Express Co. and other concerns had been stolen from agencies handling them in Cleveland, Lorain and Youngstown.

Hargett said the gang forged names on the money orders and cashed them in Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Baltimore and cities in South Carolina and West Virginia.

Cleveland Worried By Negro Arrivals

CLEVELAND (AP)—Thomas H. Dickey, acting director of the Urban League, says he is not sure the organization can help three young Negro "reverse freedom riders" who arrived here by bus Tuesday night from Montgomery, Ala.

Ed Henry, 25, one of the arrivals, told newsmen who greeted them:

"We were told by a man of the Montgomery Citizens Council to get in touch with the Urban League. He hinted that they could get us a job."

The Montgomery Citizens Council paid $25.41 one-way fare per person for Henry and Johnny McCloud, 21, and Willie McCloud, 23. It also gave the trio $3 spending money apiece.

It seemed clear from what Kennedy said Wednesday that unless the Russians agree to inspections inside Soviet territory, there will be no agreement. He told his news conference:

"We find no justification for the Soviet claim that a test ban treaty can be effective without on-site inspection."

He deliberately didn't go into details on how the United States might be willing to trim its demands—that is, reducing the number of inspection posts it previously thought necessary.

He said, "We first have to have an acceptance of the principle" by Russia that inspection, inside the United States and Russia, is necessary for a test ban agreement to make sure neither cheats.

Scout Heads Make Plans

General operating plans for the coming Scout year were formulated during the regular meeting of the Pickaway Boy Scout district committee last night in the General Electric conference rooms.

Harry Diehl, district chairman, discussed at length the assignment of adult Scout advisers to various district posts for the coming year.

The Pickaway District committee and commissioner staff was announced and the calendar of events for 1962-63 season was given each member.

Gil Boland, the new Scout Executive for Pickaway District, was introduced by Diehl. Boland is not new to scouting. He previously served as Scout Executive in Pickaway County in 1948 and has since been serving in the Cleveland area. He is returning to Pickaway as his home is in Columbus.

THE EVENING'S major business concerned a review of major problem areas in the Pickaway District. The expansion scouting and the possibility of making it available to every boy in Pickaway County was also discussed.

The next District Committee meeting and roundtable will be held September 5th at the Lutheran Church.

Broken Leg Fails To Keep Boy at Home

Youth Having Gay Time at Fairgrounds In Wheelchair

Just because a fella falls out of a tree at his grandmother's and breaks his leg in four places doesn't mean he can't enjoy the Pickaway County Fair.

Ask Bruce Pressler, who was doing the fair in a wheelchair Wednesday.

Bruce is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Pressler, Route 4. The Presslers are real fair boosters. Mrs. Pressler is a big, and we do mean "big," exhibitor in the home-making department.

Bruce's brother, Dwight, had a 4-H sheep at the fair. This means that the family comes in at least twice a day to look after the animal.

BRUCE had no choice but to wait in the car. When a guy's leg is broken in four places and he's got it in a big cast, he just can't go walking down the midway.

Boyd Kuhlwein, (he has the leather goods booth in the Coliseum) told Mrs. Pressler that he had a couple of unused wheel chairs at home. But when the Presslers went to Kuhlwein's the chairs had been loaned out.

Eventually they contacted, James Barch, a wheelchair patient at the Home and Hospital. Barch said he's stay in bed Wednesday so that Bruce could have his wheelchair and see the fair.

Red Snooper Fleet Leaves U.S. Zone

WASHINGTON (AP)—Four Russian instrument ships which spied on U.S. nuclear tests for weeks in the Pacific steamed away after the 200-mile high spot on July 9, it was disclosed Wednesday.

That high altitude test of a hydrogen device over Johnston Island was believed to have given U.S. scientists—and perhaps the Russians—an important information on the effects of such a mammoth explosion on communications and radar. Such data is considered vital in developing an antimissile system.

The test also may have given the Russians significant clues on U.S. progress in perfecting nuclear weapons.

Scout Heads Make Plans

General operating plans for the coming Scout year were formulated during the regular meeting of the Pickaway Boy Scout district committee last night in the General Electric conference rooms.

Harry Diehl, district chairman, discussed at length the assignment of adult Scout advisers to various district posts for the coming year.

The Pickaway District committee and commissioner staff was announced and the calendar of events for 1962-63 season was given each member.

Gil Boland, the new Scout Executive for Pickaway District, was introduced by Diehl. Boland is not new to scouting. He previously served as Scout Executive in Pickaway County in 1948 and has since been serving in the Cleveland area. He is returning to Pickaway as his home is in Columbus.

THE EVENING'S major business concerned a review of major problem areas in the Pickaway District. The expansion scouting and the possibility of making it available to every boy in Pickaway County was also discussed. The next District Committee meeting and roundtable will be held September 5th at the Lutheran Church.

DuPont Earns Babe Ruth Title

Strehle, Lutz Pace
Victors' Hitting Surge

DuPont romped to an easy 23-0 shutout win over L. M. Butch last night to win the Babe Ruth Major Championship. The DuPonts won the playoff series two games to none for The Jewelers.

The winners took advantage of eight Butch errors, nine bases on balls and 18 hits in scoring their 23 runs. They scored in every inning, with their biggest inning being the fourth when they tallied six markers. Five more were tallied in the third and fifth.

Bill Strehle was the winning pitcher, allowing only one hit, walking only two and striking out seven. He had a no-hitter until the sixth when Jim Starkey singled for The Jewelers only hit.

DuPont blasted three Butch pitchers for three triples, five doubles and ten singles.

SKIP LUTZ was the big gun with five straight hits. He batted a triple, two doubles and two singles. Chet Iery scored four runs, and socked a triple and two singles in five trips to the plate.

Eddie Evans hanged a triple and a single and Tom Copeland hit a double and a single. Strehle and Craig Benzonburg each socked a double and David Iery scored four runs.

The DuPonters finished with a fine overall record of 14-3. They were 11-3 in the regular season and 3-0 in the playoffs.

They edged Asheville 4-3 in a second round playoff game and in the championship series tripped L. M. Butch Monday, 4-3, and last night, 23-0.

Loss of Davis To Be Blow To Browns

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The title-hungry Cleveland Browns, having lost All-America rookie halfback Ernie Davis because of a blood disorder, suddenly find themselves looking to a group of new faces that Coach Paul Brown got in a free-swinging binge on the National Football League's trading mart.

Davis, whom Brown obtained from the Washington Redskins for established halfback Bobby Mitchell and highly-touted rookie Bobby Jackson of Western Illinois, was declared out for the season Wednesday due to a blood ailment.

Brown, whose team won the Eastern Conference titles in six of its first seven years in the league and hasn't won since, had Davis set as his No. 1 left halfback to go with fullback Jimmy Brown.

The combination of the two former Syracuse All-Americans, plus a new quarterback in Jim Ninowski and the acquisition of other veterans, had tabbed the Browns as the team to beat in the East.

Now Brown must go with his revamped veterans. They include halfbacks Tom Wilson, who came from Los Angeles, Howard (Hopalong) Cassidy from Detroit, and fullback Merrill Douglas from Dallas.

Mount Vernon Pacer Wins Scioto Feature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Pach Brewer sidestepped through a 2:03 3-5 mile at Scioto Downs Wednesday night and won the Ohio chapter, U. S. Harness Writers Association, trophy by copping the featured C-1 pace.

Pach Brewer, driven by Howard Wilson for owners Ken Scott and Roger Servais of Mount Vernon, came from behind near the finish line to beat Karen Purdue by a length. The winning 4-year-old gelding paid $6, Karen Purdue returned $3.20 and Nan Lu Ann was worth $3.60 for show.

Wednesday! I went out to see that gorgeous Arnold Palmer play ball with Jackie Nicklaus."

"You know, Nicklaus... whose father owns those drug stores?"

"No, I don't know anything about golf except what I see when George watches television. But I figured that was as good a place as any to get a suntan, and I always wanted to see the inside of a country club."

"The first thing I want to tell you is that they do marvelous things with a lawn. I did see a few weeds here and there, but on the whole it was very nice, very nice indeed. I tell George all the time, if he would only take an interest..."

What, oh, the game. Yes, it was thrilling, just thrilling.

"I'll tell you one thing, Alice, we didn't have to worry about an enemy attack out there. They had almost 100 Air Force men watching over us. It was all very sweet. They had the corporals and the sergeants watching over the course and the nice majors watching over the clubhouse."

"But the game was just thrilling, absolutely thrilling, except for the time that handsome Arnold Palmer hit the ball into the water. And another time that he hit it into a tree. I felt so sorry for him, because I heard each one of those little balls cost over a dollar."

"But, Alice, it was just like on television the way they walk onto the green... Why, yes,

College Stars Eager for Tilt

But Packers Favored In Friday TV Joust

CHICAGO (AP)—Taut and eager, the College All-Stars are ready for their football game against the Green Bay Packers Friday night at Soldier Field.

Says Coach Otto Graham of the collegians:

"Physically the Packers won't push us around. I just hope we won't make any mental errors."

The Packers, National Football League Champions, are a formidable club—"one of the best of all time," in Graham's view.

But the 1962 edition of the All-Stars, even with Ernie Davis of Syracuse sidelined, have much to recommend them.

They have John Hadl of Kansas, a talented quarterback; Ron Bull of Baylor, who is expected to step into the spot vacated by Davis; Roman Gabriel of North Carolina State, a pin point passer; Jimmy Saxton of Texas, an explosive runner, and Bob Ferguson of Ohio State, a powerful line smasher.

"And they're the hardest working squad I've seen in my five years of coaching in this game," says Graham.

The loss of Davis was a severe blow. He is in bed with a blood disorder that may keep him from playing at all this year with the Cleveland Browns.

The game is the 29th in the series sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., and will be televised and broadcast (ABC) starting at 8:45 p.m. EST.

The Packers are clear cut favorites. However Graham, in his first job of coaching, pulled a big upset when his collegians beat the Detroit Lions 35-19. Graham figures his present team has the potential.

All indications point to an open game.

Graham won't name his starting quarterback yet, but he said "if we use the spread much it has to be Hadl."

Folley Ads $4,000 To His Bank Account

DENVER (AP)—Heavyweight Zora Folley, who is a bank director in his home town at Chandler, Ariz., added $4,000 to his account today.

He got a close decision—and a swollen left eye—in a rapid-paced 10-round battle Wednesday night with Doug Jones of New York. Folley, who is No. 3 among heavyweight challengers, weighed in at 196½, which was 16 pounds more than his opponent. Neither came close to a knockdown.

Alice, it's all green, but this is a different green. No, it's not a different color green... I don't know why they call it a green

"There's a big man who carries a big red yardstick. He's the referee, and you can tell right off that he's a golfer because he wears a sweater like Perry Como."

"What? Oh, the people at the club... Very nice, Alice, very nice people. You know, I expected to find a bunch of stuffed shirts, but confidentially they look more like a bunch of stuffed shorts."

"Who won? Alice, I'm not sure. One guy told me Jackie was three under and someone else said he was three up. Oh, but it was thrilling, absolutely thrilling..."

If you want to know what actually happened, Nicklaus won by seven strokes.

Palmer won only two holes and lost nine and lost 71 to 78 on the 7,073-yard par 72 layout. Jack had three birdies and two bogeys. Palmer zoomed over the card on a half-dozen holes, three on each side.

In the neighborhood of 5,000 fans filled the fairways—and at $5 each that's not exactly a slum neighborhood. Nicklaus and Palmer were guaranteed $3,000 each, plus half the receipts over $10,000, so it was a fair payday for all involved.

Palmer said he couldn't recall the last time he had played a round without scoring a birdie. He said he had played only two nine-hole rounds since the PGA tournament, but was thoroughly rested after playing baseball and badminton with his youngsters.

"I'm going back home and start practicing for next week's American Golf Classic at Akron. I'll start working Friday, and I hope to be ready for the Firestone event," the big money man said.

One Gal Tells Another How Nicklaus, Palmer Play Ball

DuPont Earns Babe Ruth Title

Strehle, Lutz Pace
Victors' Hitting Surge

DuPont romped to an easy 23-0 shutout win over L. M. Butch last night to win the Babe Ruth Major Championship. The DuPonts won the playoff series two games to none for the Jewelers.

The winners took advantage of eight Butch errors, nine bases on balls and 18 hits in scoring their 23 runs. They scored in every inning, with their biggest inning being the fourth when they tallied six markers. Five more were tallied in the third and fifth.

Bill Strehle was the winning pitcher, allowing only one hit, walking only two and striking out seven. He had a no-hitter until the sixth when Jim Starkey singled for The Jewelers only hit.

DuPont blasted three Butch pitchers for three triples, five doubles and ten singles.

SKIP LUTZ was the big gun with five straight hits. He banged a triple, two doubles and two singles. Chet Iery scored four runs, and socked a triple and two singles in five trips to the plate.

Eddie Evans banged a triple and a single and Tom Copeland hit a double and a single. Strehle and Craig Benzonburg each socked doubles and David Iery scored four runs.

The DuPonts finished with a fine overall record of 14-3. They were 11-3 in the regular season and 3-0 in the playoffs.

They edged Asheville 4-3 in a second round playoff game and in the championship series tripped L. M. Butch Monday, 4-3, and last night, 23-0.

Loss of Davis To Be Blow To Browns

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The title-hungry Cleveland Browns, having lost All-America rookie halfback Ernie Davis because of a blood disorder, suddenly find themselves looking to a group of new faces that Coach Paul Brown got in a free-swinging binge on the National Football League's trading mart.

Davis, whom Brown obtained from the Washington Redskins for established halfback Bobby Mitchell and highly-touted rookie Bobby Jackson of Western Illinois, was declared out for the season Wednesday due to a blood ailment.

Brown, whose team won the Eastern Conference titles in six of its first seven years in the league and hasn't won since, had Davis set as his No. 1 left halfback to go with fullback Jimmy Brown.

The combination of the two former Syracuse All-Americans, plus a new quarterback in Jim Ninowski and the acquisition of other veterans, had tabbed the Browns as the team to beat in the East.

Now Brown must go with his revamped veterans. They include halfbacks Tom Wilson, who came from Los Angeles, Howard (Hopalong) Cassidy from Detroit, and fullback Merrill Douglas from Dallas.

Mount Vernon Pacer Wins Scioto Feature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Patch Brewer sidestepped through a 2:03 3-5 mile at Scioto Downs Wednesday night and won the Ohio chapter, U. S. Harness Writers Association, trophy by copping the featured C-1 pace.

Patch Brewer, driven by Howard Wilson for owners Ken Scott and Roger Servais of Mount Vernon, came from behind near the finish line to beat Karen Purdue by a length. The winning 4-year-old gelding paid $6, Karen Purdue returned $3.20 and Nan Lu Ann was worth $3.60 for show.

Wednesday! I went out to see that gorgeous Arnold Palmer play ball with Jackie Nicklaus."

"You know, Nicklaus... the chubby blond kid... whose father owns those drug stores?"

"No, I don't know anything about golf except what I see when George watches television. But I figured that was as good a place as any to get a suntan... and I always wanted to see the inside of a country club."

"The first thing I want to tell you is that they do marvelous things with a lawn. I did see a few weeds here and there, but on the whole it was very nice, yes, very nice indeed. I tell George all the time, if he would only take an interest..."

What, oh, the game. Yes, it was thrilling, just thrilling.

"I'll tell you one thing, Alice, we didn't have to worry about an enemy attack out there. They had almost 100 Air Force men watching over us. It was all very sweet. They had the corporals and the sergeants watching over the course and the nice majors watching over the clubhouse."

"But the game was just thrilling, absolutely thrilling, except for the time that handsome Arnold Palmer hit the ball into the water. And another time that he hit it into a tree. I felt so sorry for him, because I heard each one of those little balls cost over a dollar."

"But, Alice, it was just like on television the way they walk onto the green... Why, yes,

Alice, it's all green, but this is a different green. No, it's not a different color green... I don't know why they call it a green.

"There's a big man who carries a big red yardstick. He's the referee, and you can tell right off that he's a golfer because he wears a sweater like Perry Como."

"What? Oh, the people at the club... Very nice, Alice, very nice people. You know, I expected to find a bunch of stuffed shirts, but confidentially they look more like a bunch of stuffed shorts."

"Who won? Alice, I'm not sure. One guy told me Jackie was three under and someone else said he was three up. Oh, but it was thrilling, absolutely thrilling..."

If you want to know what actually happened, Nicklaus won by seven strokes.

Palmer won only two holes and lost nine and lost 71 to 78 on the 7,073-yard par 72 layout. Jack had three birdies and two bogeys. Palmer zoomed over the card on a half-dozen holes, three on each side.

In the neighborhood of 5,000 fans filled the fairways—and at $5 each that's not exactly a slum neighborhood. Nicklaus and Palmer were guaranteed $3,000 each, plus half the receipts over $10,000, so it was a fair payday for all involved.

Palmer said he couldn't recall the last time he had played a round without scoring a birdie. He said he had played only two nine-hole rounds since the PGA tournament, but was thoroughly rested after playing baseball and badminton with his youngsters.

"I'm going back home and start practicing for next week's American Golf Classic at Akron. I'll start working Friday, and I hope to be ready for the Firestone event," the big money man said.

College Stars Eager for Tilt

But Packers Favored In Friday TV Joust

CHICAGO (AP) — Taut and eager, the College All-Stars are ready for their football game against the Green Bay Packers Friday night at Soldier Field.

Says Coach Otto Graham of the collegians: "Physically the Packers won't push us around. I just hope we won't make any mental errors."

The Packers, National Football League Champions, are a formidable club—"one of the best of all time," in Graham's view.

But the 1962 edition of the All-Stars, even with Ernie Davis of Syracuse sidelined, have much to recommend them.

They have John Hadl of Kansas, a talented quarterback; Ron Bull of Baylor, who is expected to step into the spot vacated by Davis; Roman Gabriel of North Carolina State, a pin point passer; Jimmy Saxton of Texas, an explosive runner; and Bob Ferguson of Ohio State, a powerful line smasher.

"And they're the hardest working squad I've seen in my five years of coaching in this game," says Graham.

The loss of Davis was a severe blow. He is in bed with a blood disorder that may keep him from playing at all this year with the Cleveland Browns.

The game is the 29th in the series sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., and will be televised and broadcast (ABC) starting at 8:45 p.m. EST.

The Packers are clear cut favorites. However, Graham, in his first job of coaching, pulled a big upset when his collegians beat the Detroit Lions 35-19. Graham figures his present team has the potential.

All indications point to an open game. Graham won't name his starting quarterback yet, but he said "if we use the spread much it has to be Hadl."

Folley Ads $4,000 To His Bank Account

DENVER (AP) — Heavyweight Zora Folley, who is a bank director in his home town at Chandler, Ariz., added $4,000 to his account today.

He got a close decision—and a swollen left eye—in a rapid-paced 10-round battle Wednesday night with Doug Jones of New York. Folley, who is No. 3 among heavyweight challengers, weighed in at 196½, which was 16 pounds more than his opponent. Neither came close to a knockdown.

Woods Pussy Becalmed

Wildlife Aide Shows Heroism

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A medal for bravery above and beyond the call of duty should go to Joe Owens, Ohio Division of Wildlife maintenance man.

Joe lives at Coolville—and he operates on the same plan.

A staid, colorless report of Joe's utter lack of fear came today from the state division. A highly-edited version is:

A "woods pussy", better known as a skunk, fell recently into a new 15-foot cistern at Hocking Lake near Logan. Someone slanted a board into the deep den, hoping the skunk would climb out. It didn't work.

$ An SOS brought Joe and Marv Nungester, Hocking County game protector, to the scene. By that time the skunk had dug a burrow into the side of the pit and was hiding in it.

There was a long conference on ways and means.

Finally Joe observed quietly: "The only thing to do is to climb down there, pick up the skunk and bring him out." The conferees seemed awestruck by the suggestion, and stepped out of range.

But Joe calmly donned a pair of leather gloves, descended a ladder to the bottom of the pit, reached into the burrow and began stroking the skunk's head—then its neck and back. Then he picked the pussy up by the tail, climbed the ladder and released the animal.

No one was sprayed. Neither did Joe convert any of the anxious onlookers to his gentle method of handling skunks. Joe stands alone — a hero!

In wartime, anyone preventing a gas attack would win acclaim, a medal, and maybe a weekend pass. Joe deserves something for preventing the peril in peacetime.

Now they're catching trophy-size muskies in Ohio's streams.

A 20 - pound 42 - inch-er was caught July 19 in Meigs Creek in Morgan County, a tributary of the Muskingum. Maurice E. Eubank of McConnellsville, using a muskie hawk lure, hooked it at 6 p.m.

It's the only qualifier for the Ohio Huskie Muskie Club taken from a stream this year. To qualify, a muskie must weigh 20 pounds and be 40 inches long. There were seven qualifiers last year, eight thus far in 1962.

The deer herd in southeastern Ohio is increasing, wildlife biologists believe. During the first six months of 1962, automobiles killed 76 deer on the district's 17-county roads. A year ago the kill was

Wilhelm Stuff Still 'Amazes'

Dancing Knuckle Ball is Helping Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP)—In a season of ups and downs for the Baltimore Orioles, one thing has remained almost constant: the pitching of Hoyt Wilhelm. The 39-year-old right-hander, the only pitcher ever to lead both major leagues in earned run average, is still baffling opposing batters with his dancing knuckle ball. Although he's been in the major leagues for 10 years, Wilhelm's pitches never cease to amaze. Take Tuesday night, for example, after he was credited with his 11th save of the season in protecting an 8-7 victory for the Orioles over the Minnesota Twins. "Did you see that last pitch he threw to (Lenny) Green," Orioles Manager Billy Hitchcock, enthused after the game. "From the bench, it looked as though the ball dropped about a foot, straight down, as it reached the plate." The scoreless relief stint of 1-1-3 innings lowered Wilhelm's earned run average to 1.12. He has struck out 64 in 64 1-3 innings, walked 19 and allowed one home run. Despite this performance, Wilhelm has a 5-6 won-lost record. About half of his losses were the direct result of unearned runs scoring after the knuckle ball got past Baltimore catchers for passed balls. Wilhelm entered 1962 with a fine 2.81 earned run average for 1,280 major league innings pitched. For the season, he has given up 14 runs, eight of them earned. The easy-going North Carolinian paced the National League in ERA while pitching with the New York Giants in 1952, and repeated with the Orioles in 1959.

The Flash, a 2-year-old sprint run at Saratoga, was won three straight times by Eddie Arcaro — 1958, 1959 and 1961. The race was not held in 1960.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Agriculture Committee has approved a watershed project on the Dicks Creek-Little Muddy Creek in Butler and Warren counties, Ohio, to provide flood prevention and drainage.

The project will cost $1,582,000 including $1,213,000 in federal money. Only approval by the Senate and House agriculture committees is needed to permit the soil conservation service to go ahead with the work.

Ohio School Aid Is $114 a Pupil

Legislative Study Cites Record Figure

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio is contributing a record $114 a year towards the education of each public school pupil according to a new legislative study report.

Figures compiled by the Legislative Service Commission, fact-finding arm of the General Assembly, showed that the contribution 10 years ago was $78 a pupil.

State aid to public schools during the past decade increased from $106 million to $229 million, the report disclosed.

House Speaker Roger Cloud, R-Logan, said the figures do not include appropriations for operating state universities.

He said appropriations for the coming school year hit a high of $244.5 million and will boost the percentage of general funds used for school purposes.

The report said school appropriations during the period studied rose to 51 per cent of general fund revenues for the bookkeeping year ended June 30, 1959.

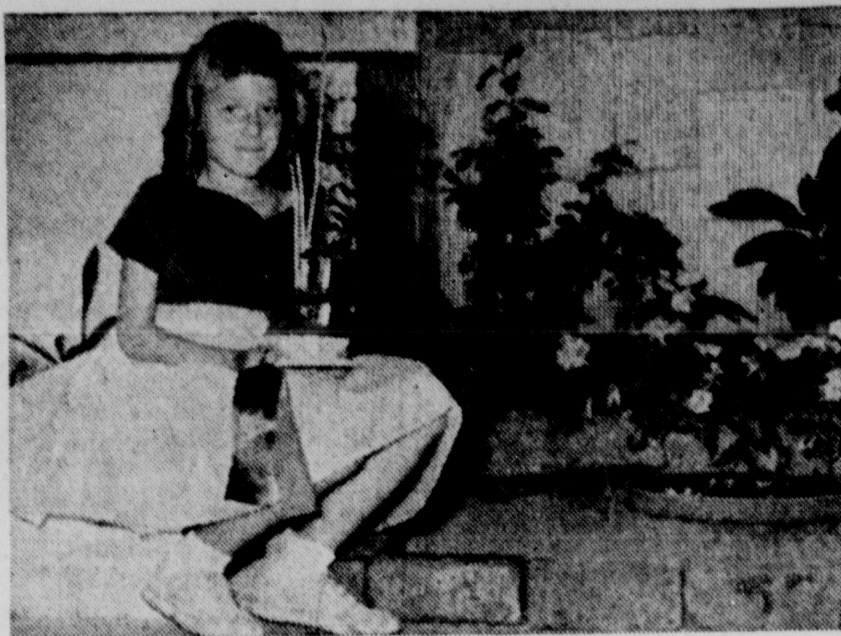

"This percentage fell 10 points to 41 per cent of total tax revenues in the year ending June 30, 1960, because of the impact of a considerable amount of new general fund taxes enacted during the term of the 103rd Legislature (1959)," Cloud said.

"The percentage of all tax revenues appropriated to public schools is again rising, reaching 46 per cent of all general fund tax revenues in the school and fiscal year ending last June 30," he added.

The study said general fund tax revenues, available for appropriation, increased during the decade from $289 million to $503 million for the last fiscal year.

But the $229 million granted schools in the last fiscal year exceeded the $221 million available from sales tax revenues during that period, the report said.

Other figures showed that state contributions to retirement systems for teachers and employees mounted from $18 million to nearly $58 million during the decade. State payments were in addition to contributions by teachers and employees themselves.

WINNER OF SPECIAL AWARD — Roxanne Swank, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Swank, Route 1, Circleville, is pictured sitting in front of a miniature garden at the Pickaway County Fair Flower Show. She is holding the arrangement that won for her the equivalent of the "Best of Show" Award. The junior show included the six-to-16 age group. Competition was rugged for this little miss.

Junior Gardeners Display Real Promise Says Judge

Junior gardeners did themselves proud Wednesday when they arrived with so many exhibits that the Fair Flower Show committee was obliged to crowd the entries in order to make room for them all.

There were 31 exhibits in the arrangement division and 29 in the specimen division.

According to Mrs. John Beck and Mrs. Paul Counts, committee members in charge of the Wednesday flower show for juniors, some of the youngsters arrived before 8:45 a. m. to register their entries. Mrs. Dorsey Bumgarner, judge, praised the caliber of the entries. The exhibits in both the specimen and arrangement classes showed great promise," she said.

MRS. BUMGARNER awarded a special ribbon to Roxanne Swank. This award went to the best entry in the arrangement division.

Roxanne, no bigger than a minute, was busy with a music lesson when her mother, Mrs. Merle Swank, received the message about her daughter's special award.

Roxanne used asparagus stems and red zinnias in her interpretation of "Rocket Ship to Mars." Her container was white and was mounted on a white base. She had incorporated a white toy rocket in the arrangement.

Winners in the specimen division of the Junior Flower Show Wednesday were:

Class 1. Zinnias, large flowered — 1. Eddie Kreisel; 2. Nancy Hines; 3. Patricia Schleich.

Class 2. Zinnias, small — 1. Curtis Steck; 2. Ruth Beck; 3. Larry Stant.

Class 3. Marigolds, African — 1. Eddie Kreisel; 2. Stephen Swank; 3. Polly Robinson.

Class 4. Marigolds, French — 1. Patty Schein; 2. Lucy Hopkins; 3. Nancy Schein.

Winners in the arrangement division included:

Class 1. "Rocket Ship to Mars" — 1. Roxanne Swank; 2. Faith Justice; 3. Kay Kline.

Class 2. "Solar Energy" — 1. Rod Sines; 2. Roxanne Swank; 3. Faith Justice.

Class 3. "Slim Silhouette" — 1. Roxanne Swank; 2. Patty Schein; 3. Nancy Hines.

Class 4. "Rocket Age" — 1. Patty Sines; 2. Stephen Swank; 3. Rod Sines.

Senate Committee OKs Ohio Watershed Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Agriculture Committee has approved a watershed project on the Dicks Creek-Little Muddy Creek in Butler and Warren counties, Ohio, to provide flood prevention and drainage.

The project will cost $1,582,000 including $1,213,000 in federal money. Only approval by the Senate and House agriculture committees is needed to permit the soil conservation service to go ahead with the work.

Ohio School Aid Is $114 a Pupil

Legislative Study Cites Record Figure

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio is contributing a record $114 a year towards the education of each public school pupil according to a new legislative study report.

Figures compiled by the Legislative Service Commission, fact-finding arm of the General Assembly, showed that the contribution 10 years ago was $78 a pupil.

State aid to public schools during the past decade increased from $106 million to $229 million, the report disclosed.

House Speaker Roger Cloud, R-Logan, said the figures do not include appropriations for operating state universities.

He said appropriations for the coming school year hit a high of $244.5 million and will boost the percentage of general funds used for school purposes.

The report said school appropriations during the period studied rose to 51 per cent of general fund revenues for the bookkeeping year ended June 30, 1959.

"This percentage fell 10 points to 41 per cent of total tax revenues in the year ending June 30, 1960, because of the impact of a considerable amount of new general fund taxes enacted during the term of the 103rd Legislature (1959)," Cloud said.

"The percentage of all tax revenues appropriated to public schools is again rising, reaching 46 per cent of all general fund tax revenues in the school and fiscal year ending last June 30," he added.

The study said general fund tax revenues, available for appropriation, increased during the decade from $289 million to $503 million for the last fiscal year.

But the $229 million granted schools in the last fiscal year exceeded the $221 million available from sales tax revenues during that period, the report said.

Other figures showed that state contributions to retirement systems for teachers and employees mounted from $18 million to nearly $58 million during the decade. State payments were in addition to contributions by teachers and employees themselves.

WINNER OF SPECIAL AWARD — Roxanne Swank, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Swank, Route 1, Circleville, is pictured sitting in front of a miniature garden at the Pickaway County Fair Flower Show. She is holding the arrangement that won for her the equivalent of the "Best of Show" Award. The junior show included the six-to-16 age group. Competition was rugged for this little miss.

Junior Gardeners Display Real Promise Says Judge

Junior gardeners did themselves proud Wednesday when they arrived with so many exhibits that the Fair Flower Show committee was obliged to crowd the entries in order to make room for them all.

There were 31 exhibits in the arrangement division and 29 in the specimen division.

According to Mrs. John Beck and Mrs. Paul Counts, committee members in charge of the Wednesday flower show for juniors, some of the youngsters arrived before 8:45 a. m. to register their entries. Mrs. Dorsey Bumgarner, judge, praised the caliber of the entries. The exhibits in both the specimen and arrangement classes showed great promise," she said.

MRS. BUMGARNER awarded a special ribbon to Roxanne Swank. This award went to the best entry in the arrangement division. Roxanne, no bigger than a minute, was busy with a music lesson when her mother, Mrs. Merle Swank received the message about her daughter's special award.

Roxanne used asparagus stems and red zinnias in her interpretation of "Rocket Ship to Mars." Her container was white and was mounted on a white base. She had incorporated a white toy rocket in the arrangement.

Winners in the specimen division of the Junior Flower Show Wednesday were:

Class 1. Zinnias, large flowered — 1. Eddie Kreisel; 2. Nancy Hines; 3. Patricia Schleich.

Class 2. Zinnias, small — 1. Curtis Steck; 2. Ruth Beck; 3. Larry Stant.

Class 3. Marigolds, African — 1. Eddie Kreisel; 2. Stephen Swank; 3. Polly Robinson.

Class 4. Marigolds, French — 1. Patty Schein; 2. Lucy Hopkins; 3. Nancy Schein.

Winners in the arrangement division included:

Class 1. "Rocket Ship to Mars" — 1. Roxanne Swank; 2. Faith Justice; 3. Kay Kline.

Class 2. "Solar Energy" — 1. Rod Sines; 2. Roxanne Swank; 3. Faith Justice.

Class 3. "Slim Silhouette" — 1. Roxanne Swank; 2. Patty Schein; 3. Nancy Hines.

Class 4. "Rocket Age" — 1. Patty Sines; 2. Stephen Swank; 3. Rod Sines.
